Mussolini Dislikes Beards.

$25 a Month for 4 Persons.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

IF YOU want success, outside of politics, deserve it. California, like the 47 other states, wants to be popular and have many visitors. Her "All Year" club advertises the state abroad, and California, having already the finest roads in the world, will spend $75,000,000 on more good roads this year.

STATES like New York that fight against a gasoline tax for good road building are fighting against property values, against the welfare of automobile drivers, and against their own growth.

MUSSOLINI tells Adolph Kinast, Swiss newspaperman, many things that show confidence in Mussolini, and in plans that Providence has made for him.

"Destiny has appointed me as the man to purify the soul of Italy," says Italy's ruler. He is about to have parliament pass a set of laws, "Every paragraph of these laws shall be obeyed."

Italy is to be made pure—and beards among other things are to be abandoned. Mussolini calls them "masks for solemn humbugs and nests for disease germs."

Alexander the Great shaved his face and made his soldiers do it that the enemy, fighting with the short sword, might not seize the beard as a handle to help in cutting off the head. Mussolini objects to beards as nests for germs, another and worse "enemy." Mussolini says he refuses to be assassinated, will live to 90 and then retire ,leaving instructions for Italy's guidance.

Italians believe him and no wonder. He believes in himself.

WE CALL ours a democratic government and Mussolini's an autocratic government. Mussolini drives young aristocrats out of the diplomatic service, saying he wants young men that have proved their ability.

We are encouraging so-called "career men" in our diplomacy, which means young gentlemen whose fathers can afford to keep their boys well supplied with money at foreign courts and send them abroad, knowing "how to enter a drawing room." Lincoln would find it hard to qualify as a career man, for the diplomatic service.

HOODLUM SHOT AS GANGSTERS OPEN FIRE ON POLLING PLACE

Women Terrorized by Outbreak in Mayoralty Election.

HEAVY BALLOTING

Both Mayor Dever and Thompson Predict Victory.

CHICAGO, April 5. — One hoodlum was believed wounded, a plate glass window was riddled with bullets and women voters and election workers terrorized today when gangsters attacked a polling place during the mayoralty election here.

Police stationed at the polling place returned the gangsters' fire. It was the first serious outbreak of violence after the voting began.

Two Bomb Explosions.

Five thousand policemen stood guard at the city's 2,384 precinct polling places, while 600 detectives patrolled the streets in riot cars, armed with revolvers, machine guns and bombs.

State authorities were in readiness at two Chicago armories to throw troops into action in the event of trouble.

One alderman in hiding, two of his workers chased off the streets, and the wreckage of two bomb explosions strewing the sidewalks were highlights of the early balloting.

State Senator John T. Joyce, Thompson ward leader, was believed kidnaped by rival election workers, when he failed to keep an appointment with some friends.

Record Poll in Three Hours.

The exceptionally heavy voting was declared by both William E. Dever, Democratic incumbent, and William Hale Thompson, Republican to bear out their claims of a landslide victory. Dr. John Dill Robertson, Independant-Republican candidate, insisted that he would receive more votes than both of his opponents.

Three hours after the polls opened more than 50 per cent of the total registered vote of 1,146,408 had been cast, a record.

First indication that violence would be resorted to came several hours before the polls opened at 6 o'clock when two Democratic headquarters in the 42nd ward were wrecked by dynamite bombs.

No one was injured and no arrests were made, the bombers having escaped in heavily curtained automobiles.

U. S. Wins Fight For "Firm But Moderate" Policy

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The American government has won its fight for the adoption of a "firm but moderate" policy by the powers dealing with the Cantonese Nationalists in the Nanking outrages.

Identic notes are being drafted in Peking today by the American, British and Japanese ministers, strongly protesting the Nanking killings, warning against any repetition, and containing a demand for indemnity. These notes, exhibiting a solidarity of purpose among the principal powers affected, will be handed to the Cantonese either late today or tomorrow.

These notes will probably be handed to the Cantonese leaders today.

The United States and Japan appear to have won Great Britain to their side, at least partially, and Great Britain's strong ultimatum will not be put upon paper, it is reported now, but Great Britain will supplement her note by a verbal statement warning the Chinese that she is prepared to take independent action to back her demands.

Suffer Heavy Casualties.

LONDON, April 5.—The Cantonese having suffered some reverses in their drive northward from Hankow, are now bringing up reinforcements and a test of the power of the northerners to turn back the Cantonese may be expected shortly, according to reports received here.

The Nationalists are driving for the Yellow river line and dispatches received here state that they have met defeats at Yen Cheng and also at Kuantien.

Heavy fighting in these two sectors is reported to have cost the Nationalists heavy casualties.

Nationalists Occupy Pengpu.

SHANGHAI, April 5.—Japan today is sending naval reinforcements to Hankow, present seat of the Cantonese government, where further mob violence is feared following fighting in the Japanese concession.

Practically all Japanese residents of Hankow are reported to have taken refuge on ships lying off the city. When reinforcements arrive there will be 11 Japanese warcraft at Hankow.

American and British residents of Shantung province are withdrawing to safety zones on the coast, and German residents of the Kiaochow district are sending their families to the coast for fear of fighting in that district between the Cantonese and northerners.

Nationalist forces north of the Yangtse valley have seized and occupied Pengpu, on the Tien-Tsin-Pukow railroad. The Cantonese are moving on Hauchowfu.

The defenses of the French concession in Shanghai are again being strengthened, and a call was made

Seek "Mystery Man" In Brutal Killing Of Man in Toledo

TOLEDO, April 5.—Police today are searching for a "mystery man," who is believed to have trailed Charles Ebner, 44, used car dealer here, for several weeks prior to the discovery of Ebner's bullet-riddled body on a lonely road near the Michigan state line Monday.

No motive for the killing has yet been definitely determined but police say the auto dealer, who had a police record, might have been the victim of an "underworld vengeance feud."

Ebner had served time in both Ohio and Michigan prisons.

MARIE CHORGAS' LAWYER SAYS ACCUSED WOMAN MAY SUFFER BREAKDOWN

Attorney S. W. Crawford Will Urge Common Pleas Court to Reduce to "Reasonable Figure" Bail Fixed for Release of Wife of Minneapolis Confectioner.

PRISONER, ILL AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT, GIVEN MEDICAL AID

Husband Visits Imprisoned Sister-in-law of Salvatore Rini, Also Held on Murder Charge, But Makes no Effort to Furnish $20,000 Bail Fixed by Two Courts.

Formal motion for a reduction in the two bonds of $10,000 each, fixed for the release of Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, wife of a Minneapolis confectioner, being held in the county jail at Lisbon in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, Wellsville, will be filed probably tomorrow by her counsel, Attorney S. W. Crawford, it was announced today.

Crawford will ask that the bonds be reduced to a "reasonable figure" in view of Mrs. Chorgas' physical condition. The woman, suffering it is claimed, from injuries received in an automobile accident about four years ago, has been ill ever since her commitment to jail on March 22, when Anania was found dead in a Walnut street apartment.

Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter, Mrs. Chorgas was taken to Salem last Tuesday where she was examined by Dr. King, nose specialist. Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, has also attended the prisoner at the county jail during the last week. Crawford claims that the woman is on the verge of a physical break-down because of her imprisonment.

Confers With Judge Lones.

James Chorgas, the woman's husband, who arrived here late Saturday, has visited his wife in the county jail but no effort has been made to furnish bond. Property valued at $40,000, or double the bond, must be posted to obtain the woman's release.

The suspect's counsel will seek a reduction not only in the bond of $10,000 under which the woman is being held upon a murder charge but also of the $10,000 bail asked for her appearance as a material witness against Salvatore Rini, 26, who is also charged with murder in the Anania case.

Crawford was in Lisbon Saturday afternoon where he conferred with Judge W. F. Lones, regarding the second $10,000 bond which was set in common pleas court Friday afternoon upon application of Prosecuting Attorney Robert W. Brookes. Crawford said he explained the woman's condition to the judge and pledged that she would be available when wanted by the grand jury when it begins its investigation into the Anania death next Monday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Birch Turner, who died Sunday night in her home, Eighth street, Wellsville, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the residence, in charge of Rev. W. S. Rowe, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

She was taken to the City hospital where an X-ray examination of the injury was to be made today.

Harker, one of the owners of the Harker Pottery company, who died Sunday evening following an attack of heart disease, will be conducted in the home on Newell Heights, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Crawford will ask that the bonds be reduced to a "reasonable figure" in view of Mrs. Chorgas' physical condition. The woman, suffering it is claimed, from injuries received in an automobile accident about four years ago, has been ill ever since her commitment to jail on March 22, when Anania was found dead in a Walnut street apartment.

Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter, Mrs. Chorgas was taken to Salem last Tuesday where she was examined by Dr. King, nose specialist. Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, has also attended the prisoner at the county jail during the last week. Crawford claims that the woman is on the verge of a physical break-down because of her imprisonment.

Confers With Judge Lones.

James Chorgas, the woman's husband, who arrived here late Saturday, has visited his wife in the county jail but no effort has been made to furnish bond. Property valued at $40,000, or double the bond, must be posted to obtain the woman's release.

The suspect's counsel will seek a reduction not only in the bond of $10,000 under which the woman is being held upon a murder charge but also of the $10,000 bail asked for her appearance as a material witness against Salvatore Rini, 26, who is also charged with murder in the Anania case.

Crawford was in Lisbon Saturday afternoon where he conferred with Judge W. F. Lones, regarding the second $10,000 bond which was set in common pleas court Friday afternoon upon application of Prosecuting Attorney Robert W. Brookes. Crawford said he explained the woman's condition to the judge and pledged that she would be available when wanted by the grand jury when it begins its investigation into the Anania death next Monday.

DINNER STORIES.

One day, recently, William Ellery Leonard, poet of the University of Wisconsin faculty stormed into the office of the college registrar, bubbling over with wrath.

With biting sarcasm he sputtered: "I don't know whether it makes any difference to the great University of Wisconsin; certainly it makes no difference to me, but this university has posted a sign with two of the simplest words in the English language misspelled! Why, I'd flunk a freshman for that!"

He stormed out, and the official responsible for the signs, of which there were several painted in large letters, hurried out and read as follows:

"Students who wish to write off conditions incured last year have untill Saturday to make application."

They were taken down hastily and repainted, with one more "r" in incurred and one less "l" in untill.

Lover's Suggestion.

This little episode occurred in a grocery store which employed a clerk who was desperately in love.

Customer: I want two pounds of rice, please.

Clerk: I'm sorry we've no rice, sir; would confetti do?

Too Efficient!

Gray, returning from a visit to the city, was asked: "How do you like the combination furniture they have in some of these New York flats?"

"Not at all," he replied. "I went to bed in a piece of that kind of junk the other night at a friend's house and when I woke up, two women were serving breafast on the foot-board, a fellow was signing checks on the head board and another fellow was under neath the bed making coffee."

MAJOR MEASURES IN LEGISLATURE

Number of important bills will be considered by the legislature at the sessions this week. The senate and house are at odds over the question of road improvements although both are on record as favoring the bond issue for improvements.

Calendars of both houses are filled with major measures yet to be acted on as a majority of local bills have been disposed of and sent to Governor Howard M. Gore.

Pain is so often unnecessary

SUFFERED WITH PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDERS

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

Following a severe attack of rheumatic fever, a New York girl suffered for days with excruciating pain in her neck and shoulders.

"After trying everything else," she writes, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and after three days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. Instantly it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentation in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

Alice, reassured by the quiet character of Beverly, gave up worrying about her, especially as late hours were assumed on de Brissac's set. And Gran'ma was confined to her bed now, and couldn't pursue. She learned, with O'Malley, to enjoy Chinese food. That was safest, because he knew that de Brissac loathed it and never entered the places. And sometimes he drove her in his smart little car to Long Beach or out over one of the passes. But they never stayed out late; the work was too hard and the morning hour too near.

A fact she didn't understand was that it was precisely when de Brissac was nearest to her unhappy spirit, was stirring her emotions most deeply, that she had the most friendly quality to give out to O'Malley. Sometimes she wondered if she had become double-faced; but whatever she had become it was so. She would sit with her elbows on a Chinese table of carved black wood and marble listening with a nervous eagerness while he talked on and on about himself and his inventions and the immense future that lay so clearly ahead. She could talk with him now. It was so plain that he was at heart only an eager boy. She found she was stimulating him, helping him on in his big fight. He told her that, often, and she thought it fine. He was not given to insistent love making. Sometimes they held hands. On a few occations when he was deply moved she passively let him kiss her. It was odd, at those moments, that she though not so much of de Brissac as of the dimmer figure of Willie Mazzini (she had owed Willie a letter for weeks; she must write him). At times she believed that Henry was heading toward a proposal of marriage. The thought was alarming and yet beautiful. It was hard to think what she could say if it did come to that. Certainly they were drawing closer. The difficulty was that both men were driving closer. Situations might easily arise. Sometimes Henry exhibited signs of jealousy which both flattered and frightened her. She let it all drift. The months slipped rapidly, silently by, the soft climate tinged with unreality every day.

Even the increasing nervous tension of all concerned in the work of making the picture seemed unreal. Everyone but de Brissac was tired. There were quarrels. Mr. Zeeck was back in New York, and during his absence the general manager, a Mr. Kugler, undertook to cut down expenses. A new Mr. Lensol appeared one day, a tall austere man with curly black hair, walking thoughtfully over the lot with Mr. Kugler. It was instantly whispered about that he was the new Chairman of the Board, and that Mr. Zeck was putting up a battle to hold his control of the Earthwide interests. But the work marched on. The moment came when Mr. de Brissac told them they were entering on the final fortnight. Even he began to exhibit signs of the long strain now. The lines in his face deepened and dark puffs appeared under his eyes. The lids, too, darkened. He took to having Hattie slip into his office at the end of the afternoon and rub his head. One day he told her that he was having the fight of his life. "But I'll win," he added quietly. He held her long in his arms that day. Timidly, furtively, she mothered him. She knew that he would win. No one could withstand his tireless energy. He never for a moment let down in manners or dress; was always smart in costume, always cool and, in that desperately world-weary way, patient.

A new director took possession of a vast area of floor space next to the complicated group of sets that now seemed almost a queer thought of home, and began a picture there. Hattie began to notice a small dark girl with strange eyes, nervously lighted eyes, who took to wandering over from the other set and apparently, watching herself; a young girl, hardly older than herself. Mr. de Brissac shook hands with her the first day, and then, Hattie thought, avoided her; though once she saw them talking in a corner. She wondered somewhat about that. He didn't speak of it. From day to day she became increasingly conscious of this girl.

It was spring now. The rains were over, the rains that had come so abruptly flooding down from the mountains and roaring through the deep gutters of the city; the days were pleasantly, languidly hot in the open if still sharply cold in the shaded places; on Sunday afternoons a long procession of gay automobiles moved down to the beaches where bathers crowded by thousands romping and swimming. Alice and Hattie took Emily often down to Santa Monica for a dream-like afternoon on the beach.

One day, at noon, Hattie sat in her miniature bungalow on the lot freshening her make-up after a hard morning's work. She had left the door open in order that the sunshine might stream in. De Brissac had whispered that she was to come to his office at five-thirty. She would go, of course. She always did. Oddly, the Hattie of the secret meetings semed not to be the Hattie of the quiet rides and dinners with Henry O'Malley, and not even remotely the Hattie who was learning to be kinder and more helpful at the apartment. It was as if her life were divided into three compartments, from one to another of which the slender flame of her personality flitted like a ghost. Often now it seemed that life had to be like that. De Brissac was fond of saying so, that every life was scattered on various queerly separated roads, that it was merely necessary to employ a little judgment in seeing to it that the roads never converged. And then he would quote Henley's "I am the master of my fate." He really seemed master of his own. And his insight was uncanny. Lately he had said—"You probably find it hard not to talk about me. You musn't talk. Learn to smile and be gentle and pretty and say nothing." . . . Now she had been increasingly beset by that tendency to bring his name into almost every conversation; not in any degree to dwell on their deepening secret; but just to bring in his name, to quote his offhand remarks. He was right, of course. Any shrewd person would sense his domination of her spirit. She had been training herself to keep his name wholly off her tongue. As a result, she knew, Alice and Gran'ma, whatever else they might worry about—and they were worrying a little about Hattie—suspected nothing. Even Henry, despite his flashes of moody vague jealousy, had no real suspicions. He though her too young and innocent. He saw no change in her. Whatever might happen, he musn't see any.

A voice said, very quietly—"Hello!"

She started, and turned in her chair, then slowly let the lip stick down on the dresser. That dark little girl stood there, her nervously bright eyes starting out of a yellow make-up, seeming to flicker with a green light.

"I used to have this room," the girl added, with a tight little smile.

Hattie couldn't fathom the irony in that slow voice. She could only reply, inadequately—"Oh, did you!" Her wits were fluttering. She hadn't yet outgrown the girlish fear that her own turbulent thoughts might be in some way visible to others.

Then, as surprisingly, the girl turned away. Hattie sprang up and stepped to the door in time to see her skirt flicking around the corner of the miniature street of bungalows into the open lot. . . . She was gone. Hattie felt her color mounting under the paint. Why had the girl come? What—who—was she?

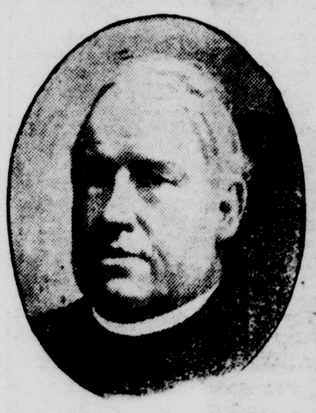
The Value of Father John's Medicine

as a body builder



lies in two outstanding features which distinguish this old-fashioned medicine.

FIRST—THE QUALITY OF THE COD LIVER OIL USED, ALONG WITH OTHER VALUABLE INGREDIENTS, in its preparation.

Harvey A. Seil, Ph. D., of Seil, Putt & Rusby, 128 Water St., New York, recognized analytical chemists, made an analysis of Father John's Medicine and stated: "We have never examined finer Cod Liver Oil than that used in Father John's Medicine."

SECOND—THE TINY PARTICLES INTO WHICH THE COD LIVER OIL IS DIVIDED by the specially designed apparatus in our modern laboratories.

Concerning this degree of fineness, Dr. Seil reports — "The Cod Liver Oil is broken up more completely than in any other medicine we have ever examined of this type, many of the oil particles found in Father John's Medicine being only one-tenth the size of the particles of butter-fat found in cream."

The Cod Liver Oil in Father John's Medicine is so excellent in quality and is so finely divided that its full food value is easily absorbed by even weakened digestive systems.

This is why people, especially the aged and weak, and pale, thin, underweight, undernourished children, gain health and strength from Father John's Medicine, which contains no alcohol or harmful drug. Over seventy years in use.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets.

RENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

Alice, reassured by the quiet character of Beverly, gave up worrying about her, especially as late hours were assumed on de Brissac's set. And Gran'ma was confined to her bed now, and couldn't pursue. She learned, with O'Malley, to enjoy Chinese food. That was safest, because he knew that de Brissac loathed it and never entered the places. And sometimes he drove her in his smart little car to Long Beach or out over one of the passes. But they never stayed out late; the work was too hard and the morning hour too near.

A fact she didn't understand was that it was precisely when de Brissac was nearest to her unhappy spirit, was stirring her emotions most deeply, that she had the most friendly quality to give out to O'Malley. He told her that, often, and she thought it fine. He was not given to insistent love making. Sometimes they held hands. On a few occations when he was deply moved she passively let him kiss her. It was odd, at those moments, that she though not so much of de Brissac as of the dimmer figure of Willie Mazzini (she had owed Willie a letter for weeks; she must write him). At times she believed that Henry was heading toward a proposal of marriage. The thought was alarming and yet beautiful. It was hard to think what she could say if it did come to that. EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927.

Death of Robert W. Harker

The sudden death of Robert W. Harker, an executive of the Harker Pottery company, at his home in Newell, came as a shock to the East Liverpool district, in which he had spent the 45 years of his life.

Few, if any, men had more friends than "Bob" Harker, as he was familiarly known. Possessed of a personal magnetism, combined with a disposition that was seldom ruffled, he made and held new acquaintances.

And, too, fair play characterized his life. Whether on the baseball field, an outlet for his great enthusiasm and athletic ability, or in the business world, where he had made a success, he never would countenance unfair tactics. In the parlance of the West, he was a "straight shooter."

"Bob" Harker's place will be hard to fill, for he radiated happiness, spoke no evil and preached and practiced tolerance.

Moderation For China

The British lion has stopped roaring at China, apparently as a result of American and Japanese influence. The British idea was to send a stern ultimatum, demanding a big indemnity and humble apology for the Nanking offenses, and in general showing the Chinese where they got off.

Japan, older and wiser in her relations with China, and with a greater feeling of responsibility because China is a big neighbor that she has to live with, counseled more moderate action. It is reassuring to learn that the United States government has done likewise.

This country, unfortunately, has some grievances now against China. But there is nothing as yet justifying the United States in making war on the Chinese people or adopting such an attitude as will render future friendly relations with China impossible.

American sentiment generally seems to recognize that as matters stand, all our government is called upon to do is to afford whatever protection it can give to American citizens in China, help them to get away from the danger zone and insist that China do what she can to make amends and treat our people better hereafter.

America interests in China at present are small, but may become great. An aggressive attitude on our part at present would merely help pull other nations' chestnuts out of the Chinese fire and put us in bad with a nation whose friendship will be important in the future.

Steel Houses

Edison's idea of "poured" concrete houses is being surpassed by an idea still more modern. It is nothing less than standardized houses of steel.

A type now being built in Germany is circular, with a steel framework surmounted by a dome-like structure, the whole so light that it weighs only a few tons. The outer walls consist of two-inch slabs of insulating material, and are screwed to the steel frame. The entire construction is said to take only a couple of weeks.

An English manufacturer is building another type in Glasgow, for his workmen there. The walls are felt-lined steel plates, on a wooden frame, and can be assembled in a few hours. The outside is painted to resemble brick or given a thin veneer of artificial stone.

There is no telling how far the movement will go, in this age of steel. A few years ago the idea of steel furniture and inside trim for office buildings was scoffed at, and look at our office quarters and equipment now.

Steel as material for homes is not very appealing so far, but that is probably an artistic problem more than anything else. Make steel houses attractive, either concealing the steel or recognizing it as respectable building material and frankly making the best of it, and then the public attitude may change. It will help greatly if our metallurgists can realize their ideal of a rustless steel, or a cheap alloy that will not rust or stain.

Names And Makeup For Engines

There have been thrilling stories written about railroad engines, but on the whole they have been regarded as mere tools rather than personalities. Now there is a tendency to give them individual recognition.

Twenty new locomotives soon to be put in operation by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are painted olive green, striped with red and gold. Also they are to be named, each after one of the first 20 presidents of the United States.

This is a pretty good start, though one might imagine a locomotive wishing for more romantic names and livelier colors. Perhaps that will come in time. Then travelers may take an interest in the engine behind which they travel, and the engine may enjoy as much prestige as the great ocean liners which are known even to people who have never had a sea voyage or glimpsed a liner at dock.

What's happened to that Nevada gold rush? Some tourist must have carried off the mine for a souvenir.

The automobile industry never gets saturated, but the automobile driver makes up for that.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

tired of life before they had fairly started it. Many diverse and astonishing opinions have been expressed in connection with the recent suicides, it is pointed out in the official publication of the Parents' Publishing association. The causes ascribed to them range all the way from "too much interest in immortality" to "too young college teachers," while suggested preventives vary from "ten minutes gymnastics when contemplating the fatal deed" to "more of the good old-fashioned strong gospel."

What the Statistics Show.

But the statisticians have also got busy and they are able to prove that conditions are not so alarming as they have been heralded. They call attention to the fact that in the year 1913, 477 youths under 20 years of age committed suicide in this country. In 1926 the number jumped to 709, in 1921 it was 858, and in 1922 it was 900.

These figures are far and away beyond those for the past twelve-month period, and yet there was little talk of a "wave of youthful suicide" in those years. Apparently there were other happenings of more engrossing public interest at that time. In 1923 the number of suicides of youths under 20 dropped to 449, and by 1925, the last year for which records are available, the low level of 339 had been reached. Even at the rate of 19 for the first two months of this year it is asserted that the total for 1927 will follow the downward trend, although there is no reason to believe the rate will be maintained.

"There is a well known seasonal curve in the frequency of suicide," says Zilpha Carruthers, who made a survey of the subject for Children, The Magazine for Parents, that has been mentioned. "This mysterious and tragic cycle rises sharply beginning late in January, making three-fifths of its total yearly increase in the single short month of February, and reaching its peak in May. It drops rapidly to a minimum in August, and remains low the rest of the year. It looks as if 1927 were running true to form."

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

"AND NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET—"

Years ago President Roosevelt was making one of his speech-making swings through the west. The special train bearing the presidential party was roaring through a canyon in Montana on the way to Butte. One of the newspapermen aboard had never before been in this part of the Union.

As he stood on the rear platform of the observation car, observing the scenery, he saw, on the farther side of the vast ravine, a succession of curious-looking orifices in the face of the gaunt mountain. Distance diminished these apertures to minute dimension, but it was evident, even to his inexperienced eyes, that they were artificial and not natural. Yet about them was no sign of human life. Seemingly they had been abandoned for a long time, as the piles of debris at their mouths were grown up with young bushes.

The newspaperman turned to U. S. Senator Carter, of Montana, now deceased, but then a power in his own state and in national politics.

"Oh, Senator," asked the curious one, "would you mind telling me what those funny-looking openings in that cliff yonder are?"

Carter cocked his eye in the direction indicated by the reporter, and the eye twinkled.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Chinatown may still flaunt more hells than Swedenborg dreamed, but lately the outward aspect is peace and desertion. Slummers continue to go, see—and yawn. A few human dregs come to the surface from hidden catacombs, but that is all.

Slippered myrmidons of opium dens no longer flit ghostlike through the narrow tangle of streets running off the hip of Chatham Square. Nor do boozy, gold toothed blondes huckster their souls in a hell's market place.

I am told only three white wives of Chinese remain to peer through latticed windows at their forbidden world The sawed-off shot guns have not blazed in a tong war for more than a year. The fusty joss houses are only for tourists.

Most of the Chinese, who once frequented the quarter, are now living in Jersey towns. New arrivals, inspired by hope of native companionship, remain only a short while. It is entirely too dull and they tire of the gaze of the sight-seers.

The all night missions of Chinatown draw the greatest crowds. Here a spiritual repast is followed with free sandwiches and hot coffee. In the old Doyers Street Mission where hangs the oil painting of Sophie the Scrubwoman, beloved of the Bowery, a big line nightly forms.

It is not the blowzy crew of stragglers one might expect The faces are mostly those of youth who have lost an uneven battle with life and, seeking a new start, gravitate to that simple friendliness and helping hand the mission provides

The perennial bums from Bowery gutters are there of course, but their number is comparatively small The religion is of the old-fashioned sort with a nightly trail to the mourner's bench and a lusty rendition of "Washed in the Blood of the Lamb"

A midnight mission down and outer told me of the life northward that caused his downfall He said he had accepted the Broadway conception of existence—"a lotta laughs and a few headaches." But he said gravely the headaches outnumbered the laughs.

It is often said the Bowery is the last stop in New York before oblivion. Yet countless men and women too, have drifted to the lodging house despair of the section only to get a grip on themselves and become useful citizens. Every night at the innumerable Bowery missions are respectbale men and women who often come in limousines to give personal testimonies of regeneration. Some were untrussed by drink, others by drugs and a few were hapless victims of circumstance.

"He is as distinguished," similies a wag, "as the meter light on a taxi."

The latest spending spree along the White Way was indulged by a youth who was left a legacy of $9,000. It lasted 14 days and he wound up babbling in a sanitarium. When calmed down he was asked by an attendant what was responsible for his condition.

"Strong booze and a weak blonde," he answered.

That is doubtless a variant of those famous twin destroyers—fast ladies and slow ponies.

An old-timer sends a list of 37 famous restaurants attracting New York gourmets in 1910. They were packed daily by those who enjoyed dining leisurely. Only five remain and just one is doing a good business. New York's minutemen want minute meals. The idea is to gulp and gallop.

Youthful Suicides.

WASHINGTON, D. That, despite the fact that numerous newspaper and magazine articles and editorials have been published and many sermons have been preached deploring the suicidal tendency among the youths of the land and seeking to arrive at an explanation of the whys and wherefores.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927.

Death of Robert W. Harker

The sudden death of Robert W. Harker, an executive of the Harker Pottery company, at his home in Newell, came as a shock to the East Liverpool district, in which he had spent the 45 years of his life.

Few, if any, men had more friends than "Bob" Harker, as he was familiarly known. Possessed of a personal magnetism, combined with a disposition that was seldom ruffled, he made and held new acquaintances.

And, too, fair play characterized his life. Whether on the baseball field, an outlet for his great enthusiasm and athletic ability, or in the business world, where he had made a success, he never would countenance unfair tactics. In the parlance of the West, he was a "straight shooter."

"Bob" Harker's place will be hard to fill, for he radiated happiness, spoke no evil and preached and practiced tolerance.

Moderation For China

The British lion has stopped roaring at China, apparently as a result of American and Japanese influence. The British idea was to send a stern ultimatum, demanding a big indemnity and humble apology for the Nanking offenses, and in general showing the Chinese where they got off.

Japan, older and wiser in her relations with China, and with a greater feeling of responsibility because China is a big neighbor that she has to live with, counseled more moderate action. It is reassuring to learn that the United States government has done likewise.

This country, unfortunately, has some grievances now against China. But there is nothing as yet justifying the United States in making war on the Chinese people or adopting such an attitude as will render future friendly relations with China impossible.

American sentiment generally seems to recognize that as matters stand, all our government is called upon to do is to afford whatever protection it can give to American citizens in China, help them to get away from the danger zone and insist that China do what she can to make amends and treat our people better hereafter.

America interests in China at present are small, but may become great. An aggressive attitude on our part at present would merely help pull other nations' chestnuts out of the Chinese fire and put us in bad with a nation whose friendship will be important in the future.

Steel Houses

Edison's idea of "poured" concrete houses is being surpassed by an idea still more modern. It is nothing less than standardized houses of steel.

A type now being built in Germany is circular, with a steel framework surmounted by a dome-like structure, the whole so light that it weighs only a few tons. The outer walls consist of two-inch slabs of insulating material, and are screwed to the steel frame. The entire construction is said to take only a couple of weeks.

An English manufacturer is building another type in Glasgow, for his workmen there. The walls are felt-lined steel plates, on a wooden frame, and can be assembled in a few hours. The outside is painted to resemble brick or given a thin veneer of artificial stone.

There is no telling how far the movement will go, in this age of steel. A few years ago the idea of steel furniture and inside trim for office buildings was scoffed at, and look at our office quarters and equipment now.

Steel as material for homes is not very appealing so far, but that is probably an artistic problem more than anything else. Make steel houses attractive, either concealing the steel or recognizing it as respectable building material and frankly making the best of it, and then the public attitude may change. It will help greatly if our metallurgists can realize their ideal of a rustless steel, or a cheap alloy that will not rust or stain.

Names And Makeup For Engines

There have been thrilling stories written about railroad engines, but on the whole they have been regarded as mere tools rather than personalities. Now there is a tendency to give them individual recognition.

Twenty new locomotives soon to be put in operation by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are painted olive green, striped with red and gold. Also they are to be named, each after one of the first 20 presidents of the United States.

This is a pretty good start, though one might imagine a locomotive wishing for more romantic names and livelier colors. Perhaps that will come in time. Then travelers may take an interest in the engine behind which they travel, and the engine may enjoy as much prestige as the great ocean liners which are known even to people who have never had a sea voyage or glimpsed a liner at dock.

What's happened to that Nevada gold rush? Some tourist must have carried off the mine for a souvenir.

The automobile industry never gets saturated, but the automobile driver makes up for that.

"AND NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET—"

Years ago President Roosevelt was making one of his speech-making swings through the west. The special train bearing the presidential party was roaring through a canyon in Montana on the way to Butte. One of the newspapermen aboard had never before been in this part of the Union.

As he stood on the rear platform of the observation car, observing the scenery, he saw, on the farther side of the vast ravine, a succession of curious-looking orifices in the face of the gaunt mountain. Distance diminished these apertures to minute dimension, but it was evident, even to his inexperienced eyes, that they were artificial and not natural. Yet about them was no sign of human life. Seemingly they had been abandoned for a long time, as the piles of debris at their mouths were grown up with young bushes.

The newspaperman turned to U. S. Senator Carter, of Montana, now deceased, but then a power in his own state and in national politics.

"Oh, Senator," asked the curious one, "would you mind telling me what those funny-looking openings in that cliff yonder are?"

Carter cocked his eye in the direction indicated by the reporter, and the eye twinkled.

"My son," he said, "those are what are known in the west as holes in the ground and in the east as permanent mining-investments."

Youthful Suicides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April —The surprising thing about the recent so-called epidemic of youthful suicides in the United States, it now appears, is that it is not an epidemic, and that the number of such suicides is far less than it was a few years ago. That, despite the fact that numerous newspaper and magazine articles and editorials have been published and many sermons have been preached deploring the suicidal tendency among the youths of the land and seeking to arrive at an explanation of the whys and wherefores.

Obviously no explanation is needed if the number of suicides is not extraordinary, and that, it seems is the case. In other words, no one has occasion to get excited and jump at the conclusion that there is something radically wrong with our civilization, with the way young people of today are being reared and educated, or with the modern home environment and influence.

During the first two months of this year 19 college and high school students took their lives. Probably no one case was of sufficient importance in and of itself to receive more than brief mention in the local papers, but one of the queer quirks that occurs not infrequently in the evaluating of "news" led to the "playing up" of each of these suicide stories, and, cumulatively, each additional one became more sensational.

Then the psychologists, the psychiatrists, the preachers, the teachers, the social workers, and many other specialists got busy in an effort to explain why so many young people were tired of life before they had fairly started it. Many diverse and astonishing opinions have been expressed in connection with the recent suicides, it is pointed out in the official publication of the Parents' Publishing association. The causes ascribed to them range all the way from "too much interest in immortality" to "too young college teachers," while suggested preventives vary from "ten minutes gymnastics when contemplating the fatal deed" to "more of the good old-fashioned strong gospel."

What the Statistics Show.

But the statisticians have also got busy and they are able to prove that conditions are not so alarming as they have been heralded. They call attention to the fact that in the year 1910, 477 youths under 20 years of age committed suicide in this country. In 1920 the number jumped to 709, in 1921 it was 858, and in 1922 it was 900.

These figures are far and away beyond those for the past twelve-month period, and yet there was little talk of a "wave of youthful suicide" in those years. Apparently there were other happenings of more engrossing public interest at that time. In 1923 the number of suicides of youths under 20 dropped to 449, and by 1925, the last year for which records are available, the low level of 339 had been reached. Even at the rate of 19 for the first two months of this year it is asserted that the total for 1927 will follow the downward trend, although there is no reason to believe the rate will be maintained.

"There is a well known seasonal curve in the frequency of suicide," says Zilpha Carruthers, who made a survey of the subject for Children, The Magazine for Parents, that has been mentioned. "This mysterious and tragic cycle rises sharply beginning late in January, making three-fifths of its total yearly increase in the single short month of February, and reaching its peak in May. It drops rapidly to a minimum in August, and remains low the rest of the year. It looks as if 1927 were running true to form."

than four per cent in 1923 and less than three per cent in 1925 of all American suicides were under 20 years of age. During the first 20 years there are fewer suicides than in any single five years thereafter. Less than four thousandths of one per cent of our minor population—one out of every 400,000—ends in suicide.

Of the juvenile suicides in 1921 40 were said to be college students, and in 1923 there were 38. However, in the last year mentioned 79 millionaire suicides were listed. There are far more college students than there are millionaires in the United States, and yet when more than twice as many of the men of wealth took their own lives no one discovered a "wave of millionaire suicides."

Waves of Other Years.

As further evidence that the situation with respect to the self-destruction of youths is in no sense or degree new excerpts from newspapers of years ago are cited. One is a headline that was published 40 years ago. It reads: "Suicides of Children—Is Modern Life Too Rapid?" Another headline, 31 years old, runs: "Boy Suicides Increase—Life Too Strenuous For Young." These exhibits might have been taken from the newspaperers of the present year, for headlines of almost identical wording have been appearing frequently.

The third citation is only 19 years old, but it is particularly interesting because it is an excerpt from an editorial and may be compared with the editorials that are being written and published at the present time. It reads:

"In fact the paragraphs headed 'A Youthful Suicide' have become such a frequent occurrence of late that we hardly stop to notice them but pass on lightly to some more piquant narrative of vice."

In an effort to arrive at the cause of youthful suicides the "last words" or messages of the 19 who killed themselves during January and February were checked up. Not all of them left explanations of their tragic acts, but of those who did there was no motive common to all. One lad had a tiff with his sweetheart and was disappointed in her. Another felt that he was a burden to his family and that it was up to him to eliminate himself.

Four of the suicides left messages to the effect that their study of philosophy had convinced them that there is more of evil than of good in this life, hence they would avoid the evil by shuffling off this mortal coil. Two of the others evidently were prematurely aged and blase, for they said that they had had every experience that life holds out so they might as well set out to explore the hereafter.

Dr. Arthur Ruggles, consultant in mental hygiene at Yale university, has epitomized the conditions and causes that contribute to the self-destruction of young people.

"Among the problems of our time that have a part in youthful suicide," he says, "are lack of home discipline, the increase in freedom of speech and action, an inordinate desire for speed and thrills, disregard for law and order, the divided home, and the continued breeding of the nervously unfit."

It is regarded as significant by most of the experts that working boys and girls rarely commit suicide.

He Sleeps Like a Child

Sleep is the finest medicine in the world. If you can sleep calmly and soundly for seven or eight hours, you will always wake up alert and vigorous. Your whole body revitalized by the refreshing influence of peaceful slumber.

If you can't, there is something wrong with your internal system. If you are tied down to the busy life of the city, your liver and kidneys lose their vigor, impurities find their way into your blood stream, the tone of your entire system is lowered and depression, constipation and a hundred and one ills follow, bringing troubled nights in their train.

Kruschen Salts will alter this.

Two Tablets of Kruschen every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea or in a glass of hot water, will provide just the gentle reminder that your eliminating organs need. It is a full day's supply of the six mineral salts which Nature prescribes for your well being. You will enjoy every moment of the day with that exhilarating Kruschen feeling, and when night comes you will seek your bed in the calm and happy state of mind and body that makes for sound, refreshing sleep.

Seek Safety Devices For Army Airplanes In Mountain Regions

WASHINGTON.—Increased safety for military planes flying over mountainous sections of the country is being sought for by the Army Air Corps. The latest has been to equip the machines with smoke candles giving forth dense gray vapor, easily distinguished from smoke made by ordinary fires. It is hoped by use of these candles to direct relief parties immediately to air men who have made forced landing or who have wrecked their planes.

Efforts are being made by the Air Corps to inform all persons living in mountainous or sparsely settled sections of the significance of this candle smoke so that when they see it they will investigate promptly and render what assistance they can.

During the first 20 years there are fewer suicides than in any single five years thereafter. Less than four thousandths of one per cent of our minor population—one out of every 400,000—ends in suicide.

Of the juvenile suicides in 1921 40 were said to be college students, and in 1923 there were 38. However, in the last year mentioned 79 millionaire suicides were listed. There are far more college students than there are millionaires in the United States, and yet when more than twice as many of the men of wealth took their own lives no one discovered a "wave of millionaire suicides."

Waves of Other Years.

As further evidence that the situation with respect to the self destruction of youths is in no sense or degree new excerpts from newspapers of years ago are cited. One is a headline that was published 40 years ago. It reads: "Suicides of Children—Is Modern Life Too Rapid?" Another headline, 31 years old, runs: "Boy Suicides Increase—Life Too Strenuous For Young." These exhibits might have been taken from the newspapers of the present year, for headlines of almost identical wording have been appearing frequently.

The third citation is only 19 years old, but it is particularly interesting because it is an excerpt from an editorial and may be compared with the editorials that are being written and published at the present time. It reads:

"In fact the paragraphs headed 'A Youthful Suicide' have become such a frequent occurrence of late that we hardly stop to notice them but pass on lightly to some more piquant narrative of vice."

In an effort to arrive at the cause of youthful suicides the "last words" or messages of the 19 who killed themselves during January and February were checked up. Not all of them left explanations of their tragic acts, but of those who did there was no motive common to all. One lad had a tiff with his sweetheart and was disappointed in her. Another felt that he was a burden to his family and that it was up to him to eliminate himself.

Four of the suicides left messages to the effect that their study of philosophy had convinced them that there is more of evil than of good in this life, hence they would avoid the evil by shuffling off this mortal coil. Two of the others evidently were prematurely aged and blase, for they said that they had had every experience that life holds out so they might as well set out to explore the hereafter.

Dr. Arthur Ruggles, consultant in mental hygiene at Yale university, has epitomized the conditions and causes that contribute to the self-destruction of young people.

"Among the problems of our time that have a part in youthful suicide," he says, "are lack of home discipline, the increase in freedom of speech and action, an inordinate desire for speed and thrills, disregard for law and order, the divided home, and the continued breeding of the nervously unfit."

It is regarded as significant by most of the experts that working boys and girls rarely commit suicide.

He Sleeps Like a Child

Sleep is the finest medicine in the world. If you can sleep calmly and soundly for seven or eight hours, you will aways wake up alert and vigorous. Your whole body revitalized by the refreshing influence of peaceful slumber.

If you can't, there is something wrong with your internal system. If you are tied down to the busy life of the city, your liver and kidneys lose their vigor, impurities find their way into your blood stream, the tone of your entire system is lowered and depression, constipation and a hundred and one ills follow, bringing troubled nights in their train.

Kruschen Salts will alter this.

Two Tablets of Kruschen every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea or in a glass of hot water, will provide just the gentle reminder that your eliminating organs need. It is a full day's supply of the six mineral salts which Nature prescribes for your well being. You will enjoy every moment of the day with that exhilarating Kruschen feeling, and when night comes you will seek your bed in the calm and happy state of mind and body that makes for sound, refreshing sleep.

It's the little daily dose that does it!

Seek Safety Devices For Army Airplanes In Mountain Regions

WASHINGTON.—Increased safety for military planes flying over mountainous sections of the country is being sought for by the Army Air Corps. The latest has been to equip the machines with smoke candles giving forth dense gray vapor, easily distinguished from smoke made by ordinary fires. It is hoped by use of these candles to direct relief parties immediately to air men who have made forced landing or who have wrecked their planes.

Efforts are being made by the Air Corps to inform all persons living in mountainous or sparsely settled sections of the significance of this candle smoke so that when they see it they will investigate promptly and render what assistance they can.

WELLSVILLE SOLONS AWAIT SEWER PROBLEM ACTION

DEFINITE PLAN MAY BE VOTED HERE TONIGHT

Seventeenth Street Question Will be Discussed.

COST CUT URGED

Twentieth Street Work Ordinance Will be Passed.

Wellsville council, after a three weeks' rest from official duties, will convene tonight with the Seventeenth street sewer problem probably one of the most important matters looming for discussion and possible action.

The Seventeenth street sewer has been under consideration by the solons for a number of months, being brought up in council several weeks ago. At that time, it was decided to defer action until a later meeting.

Since the first discussion of the proposition one or more meetings have been held by the city officials but no definite plan of action has been agreed upon, it is said,

Although a bond issue of $24,000 was asked at the last election for the construction of a sewer to connect with the Eighteenth street storm sewer, it was hoped by solons that a different method of building might be arranged in order to reduce the cost.

The Twentieth street sewer ordinance probably will be passed on its third reading tonight.

RITCHIE HIGH IN DEMS' LIST AS CHOICE IN 1928 CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Speaking of Democratic presidential possibilities—

ALBERT RITCHIE

There's no real use in speaking of the Republican ones, because, in our hearts, we all know that C. Coolidge is it—

But speaking of Democrats, nobody's mentioned Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland recently.

Let not Gov. Ritchie be forgotten, because, any minute, he's liable to loom up prominently.

OF course Al Smith, not Al Ritchie, is the leading candidate.

But what good does it do to be the leading candidate if you can't be nominated?

Maybe Al Smith will, but good reasons are beginning to be apparent why he won't.

For one thing, he's too wet. Now he's too dry, too.

I told you so. I predicted Al Smith was coming out as a dry-wet, or a wet-dry.

You noticed what Senator Borah said the other day.

If a politician can keep the public from finding out whether he's wet or dry, that's all right. But I don't believe he can be both wet and dry and get away with it.

The mixture suggests too strongly that his real name is mud.

JUST assume, for the sake of argument, that Smith and Borah, between them, have queered Smith.

William G. McAdoo's out of it. That's admitted. Mac may be able to tell other folks where to get off, but nobody claims he can land anything for himself any more.

Most dopesters probably would note down Senator Jim Reed of Missouri as next in line.

The trouble with Reed is that he's been on the warpath too consistently all his life. He has a few cracking good friends, but he has swarms of enemies simply thirsting for his gore.

He's a big, strong man all right, and not to be slightly dismissed as a possibility for anything he wants, as he unquestionably wants the presidency.

But he isn't safe to bank on with so many snipers on his trail.

NOW, eliminate those three—Smith, McAdoo and Reed—and you'll find Richie's about as good a guess as there is left.

In fact, with that trio out of the way, he's the outstanding Democratic candidate.

This isn't the same thing as saying he has a walkover, as Coolidge has, or that he's even as strong as Frank O. Lowden, for example, if Coolidge should miraculously decide to retire.

But it's the same thing as saying that Ritchie's the next man you think of, after crossing Smith, McAdoo and Reed off the Democratic list.

THERE'S this about Ritchie—

He's an individual of extraordinary personal charm. He's a big man and probably the handsomest governor in the United States today, an aristocrat all through and yet he has punch and he puts on no airs.

He's one presidential candidate who has the nerve to say what he means. Some time ago he took the fancy to make a number of speeches around the country, to introduce himself. All the politicians encouraged him, thinking, with his outspokenness, he'd put his foot in it in short order. So he went, and to the politicians' disgust, made a great hit everywhere he appeared.

Oh, yes, he's a wet and all that, but he never proposed to modify and strengthen the Volseadt Act at the same time.

Creek Indians Ask For Re-Establishment Of Famous School

OKMULGEE, Okla.—The Creek tribe is seeking the re-establishment of the famous Carlisle Indian school, this time in Oklahoma.

Inducements which, it is hoped, will lead the government to grant such a request have just been outlined at a meeting of several hundred members of the tribe.

A proposal that the Creek nation donate the Euchee and Eufaula Indian schools, owned by the tribe, in return for the establishment of the Carlisle school in this state was advanced by Principal Chief George W. Hill.

The Carlisle school, formerly in Pennsylvania, was discontinued at the time of the World war.

Nearly 11,000 new buildings have gone up in Sydney, N. S. W., in the past year.

When an expert mechanic takes the pulse of the family bus, Father knows everything will soon be O. K. An expert, as Father will tell you, is the kind of a man who gets results.

And speaking of results naturally leads one to speak of Puritan Malt. Long and expert experience in the blending of the choicest No. 1 barley with genuine Imported Bohemian Hops makes Puritan Malt the Richest and Strongest Malt produced in America. Of course, there are other malts too. But when you want results, never mind the advice on fancy labels—Get the work of experts.

"HOODOO" SEEMS TO FOLLOW FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT

BELIEF GROWS AS ACCIDENTS BEFALL CHIEFS

Both Principals Visited by Ill Luck Since Trial Started.

SCRIBES AFFECTED

"Jinx" Overshadowed by Possibility of Clash Over Auto King.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 5—Swinging from the snowy cotton fields of the south to the golden grain belt of the middle west counsel for Henry Ford today traced the purse-filling activities of Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king for the benefit of the jury in the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

On the witness stand for his sixth day of cross-examination, Sapiro admitted receiving scores of fees and retainers for his work among farmers. His total gross fees surged above the $500,000 mark for the last ten years.

Sapiro told, too, of being paid $1,000 for attending a three-day conference of the American Farm Bureau at Chicago in July, 1920. This fee included his expenses to and from San Francisco, he said, but it was paid for only three days' work at the conference.

DETROIT, April 5.—Disciples of mysticism today believed a "hoodoo" follows the million dollar "Ford-Sapiro libel suit."

The belief grew as an unusual series of accidents and "bad luck" incidents continued to befall those who are taking part in the trial in federal court here. Both the principals, Henry Ford and Aaron Sapiro, have been visited by ill luck since the trial began.

Ford was injured in a motor crash, the first serious accident to occur to him in his life and the first of any sort in the last seven years. Sapiro's bad luck was visited upon his family, a son being stricken with bronchitis shortly after the trial began and a daughter contracting scarlet fever over the last week-end. Attorneys court attaches and newspapermen also reported themselves victims of the supposed "hoodoo."

Ford meanwhile continued to show steady improvement from the injuries he suffered last Sunday night. The auto king was tightly bound into a canvas jacket to prevent any undue strain upon his wrenched back and chest. He was permitted to read and experiment with blue prints but he made no effort to leave his bed. His physicians expected him to be out of bed before the end of the week.

Prepare to Call Ford.

The "jinx," however, was overshadowed somewhat by the possibility of a clash later this week over the desired appearance of Ford as a witness for Sapiro. Statements issued by opposing counsel indicated that Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond may be called upon to send a physician to visit Ford to determine just how badly he was injured in the motor accident.

This possibility loomed with Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, announcement:

"We will probably finish with Sapiro's cross-examination before the end of the week. But Mr. Ford will not appear on the witness stand this week." He would not amplify the statement.

At the same time, William H. Gallagher, chief of Sapiro's counsel said:

"We will call Mr. Ford as soon as his counsel concludes their examination of Mr. Sapiro. I expect it will be before the end of this week. If there is not a satisfactory explanation of his illness, I shall ask the court to appoint a physician to examine him."

Four Ill, One Hurt.

Judge Raymond meanwhile told International News Service he could not pass upon the question of Ford's illness or appearance until he heard statements from opposing counsel. The court would not anticipate his possible action.

The judge incidentally doesn't believe the trial "hoodooed."

Although his own health has not been the best since he came to Detroit to preside over the trial, he doesn't blame it on the libel suit The court bailiff, Lyman L. Gilbert, however, was stricken with bronchitis since the start of the case while three newspapermen became ill. A daughter of Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, was struck by a trolley car a week ago while all the attorneys concerned blame the trial for heavy losses in their private practice. So far as their business goes, the lawyers believe the suit is "jinxed."

STATE MINING CHIEFS' RIFT WIDER TODAY

Little Hope Remains of Joint Wage Conference.

LONG SHUTDOWN

Union Leader and Operators Exchange Letters.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—The rift between union coal miners and Ohio mine operators was today wider, rather than narrower, following an exchange of letters between Lee Hall, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, and S. H. Robbins, of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association.

Little hope remained that the miners and mine owners could be brought together in a conference for settling differences. The mines, as a result, will be shut down for at least several months, according to general opinion.

Operators' Letter.

The position of the operators is made clear in a letter which Robbins sent Hall late yesterday afternoon. He said in part:

"Any conference between the coal miners and operators of the state of Ohio that does not take into consideration competitive conditions would, as I have stated to you before, be futile. I am sorry that you and your members are not willing to participate in a conference that will consider competitive conditions in an effort to formulate a wage scale for the mines of Ohio.

"I think you will also agree with me that it is very important that any wage scale that it might be possible to agree upon should be continuous so that the coal consuming public can have the assurance of a regular and continuous supply of fuel."

Cite Non-Union Figures.

The Ohio coal bureau today announced figures in support of its contention that miners in non-union districts have been receiving steadier employment and more aggregate wages than those in union sections. The statistics concern Kanawha mines in West Virginia, which were operated by union men in 1921 and subsequently became non-union.

The figures show that the average yearly income of mine workers was $1,367.25 during the union period and $1,739.93 during the non-union; that the average union coal cutter received $2,141.70 yearly and the average non-union coal cutter received $3,148.32.

Robbins, in commenting on these figures, said:

"It shows conclusively that if Ohio miners will accept a competitive wage scale, the operators will be able to furnish steadier employment, enabling these men to earn annually much more money than they have been able to earn during the spasmodic operating period of the last three years."

He concludes:

"Unless the miners agree to meet the operators on a fair basis so that the mine owners can operate their mines in competition with mines south of the Ohio river, it will be useless to attempt to operate and useless to discuss it."

Pittsburg Sheriff's Warning.

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—Sheriff Robert H. Braun, of Allegheny county, where 18,000 union miners are idle as a result of the bituminous suspension, served notice on miners and operators alike today he would permit no "bloody Williamson county" scene to be enacted within his domain.

The Allegheny county sheriff made this announcement in explanation of his order forbidding the assemblage of three or more persons in the vicinity of mines operated with non-union miners.

"While the rule may be objected to by some," said the sheriff, "I consider it absolutely necessary in the interest of peace. The rule applies to both factions in the wage controversy."

Ford Food Stores Closed to Public; Too Much Business

DETROIT, April 5.—Henry Ford's food stores which last year made a profit of $400,000 and at the same time saved the average family which traded with him from $500 to $600 annually in their living costs, were to be closed to the general public today. The Ford stores will remain open as heretofore for all Ford employes.

Announcement that the public would be barred from the Ford commissionaries was made last night at a meeting held by the Michigan Retail Merchants' association.

G. N. Staples, head of the Ford commissary division gave as the reason the fact that "there has been too much business for us to handle."

Ford last year sold $12,000,000 of supplies in his stores and made a profit of $400,000 a little better than 3 per cent.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 5.—The forward movement in the speculative railroad stocks gained momentum in the arly trading today as the result of an influx of buying for western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Katy and other well known shares. The New York Central interests were reported the most aggressive buyers of Western Maryland, while Erie's sharp advance was attributed to further acquisition of stock in the open market by Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate promoters.

With most of the Wall Street statistical records showing daily excursions for the industrial and railroad stocks into the highest price territory in the history of the street, the speculative experts caled attention to the strong statistical position of the market. U. S. Steel common shattered all of its past records when the stock pushed forward to 170¾, while Erie common duplicated this performance in the railroad division.

An echo of the unsettled situation in Mexico, and the decline of oil production there was seen in the decline of Pan American Petroleum B and A new low price of 56½. The company which is owned by Standard Oil of Indiana, pays $6 annually on both classes of common stock, but Wall Street is not convinced that the big Standard company will stand behind the disbursement in the event of falling earnings of Pan Pete. The balance of the oil group was fairly steady.

POWDER BLASTS IN OHIO FIRE IMPERIL MANY

Windows Broken as Blaze Rages in Cleveland.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Flames Sweep Powder Plant, Threaten Adjoining Places.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—A series of explosions at the East End plant of the Ohio Bronze Powder company early today imperiled many lives, drove several persons from adjacent apartments into the streets and smashed scores of windows and skylights in the immediate neighborhood. Several persons were cut by broken glass.

The blasts were caused by streams of water from firehose striking powder, according to Assistant Fire Chief Nimmo.

Damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000.

For a time the flames threatened the adjoining plant of the Jordan Motor company and other manufacturing plants. Apartment buildings nearby were also threatened and several families had prepared to remove their furniture when the blaze was brought under control.

Lightning Blamed.

Fireman George Lace was taken to a hospital to be treated for injuries sustained in fighting the fire. One blast after another caused a severe handicap to the fire fighters. At one time more than a score of firemen were hurled to the ground by a terrific triple blast.

Lightning during an early morning electrical storm is believed responsible for starting the fire.

The powder plant fire was Cleveland's second serious conflagration within 12 hours. Late yesterday the second floor of the Hickox building in the heart of the business section was swept by a blaze which caused estimated damage of $30,000. Traffic was tied up for over an hour. Assistant Fire Chief J. H. Granger was cut about the hands when glass, broken by the severe heat, fell from a transom. Three large plate glass windows, also broken by the eat, fell into the street but no one was injured.

Poultry Fanciers Discuss Plans.

Members of the Tri-State Poultry and Pet Stock association discussed plans for the year at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building last evening.

ily of four, well, on $25 a month. You will soon be able to buy her book, translated.

More important in America, however, is our system of increasing wages, that make is unnecessary to save the bread crumbs for puddings and limit to 12,000 calories daily a family of four.

"As many calories as I want, and some margin for extravagance," is the American demand. And not "How little can I live on?" but "How much can I get?"

A BOOK really needed is one that would keep Americans from breaking all world records for time, work and happiness lost through illness.

The united hospitals' report for New York city alone shows an average of 150,000 ill in bed all the time, and 600,000 more made unfit to work by some sickness.

SEVENTY per cent of that is due to ignorance, at least, and not a little of it to the ignorance of doctors that understand neither diagosis nor cure, also some that would consider prevention of disease "bad business."

upon the volunteer defense forces to supply men to assist in sentry and guard duty.

Admiral Williams, commander of the American warcraft in Chinese waters, and General Smedley Butler, commander of the United States marines, will have more than 7,000 bluejackets and marines under them when the reinforcements now on the way arrive here. These include the 1,500 marines due to sail from San Diego, Calif., today or tomorrow.

Evacuate Chang-Sha.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Chinese situation, as it affects safety of foreigners, assumed an alarming aspect today on the basis of additional reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

Evacuation of Chang-Sha in western Honan province, is being hastened because of labor and anti-foreign agitation, Admiral Williams reported, and the American consulate there will close Thursdey, ten days earlier than previously planned.

The attack on Japanese sailors at Hankow, resulting in the killing of three of them, shows indications of having been "deliberately planned and pre-arranged," Williams reported.

Chang Opposes Foreign Troops.

(Copyright, 1927, By International News Service.)

PEKING, April 5.—While deeply hostile against the Bolshevists, nevertheless Marshal Chang Tso-Lin regards the sending of large forces of British reinforcements and other troops into North China as an unwelcome act, the Manchurian war lord declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service today.

"I have the situation well in hand," said Marshal Chang, who commands the northern army defending Peking. "The Cantonese cannot proceed northward. Therefore additional foreign garrisons are not needed.

"I am ready to mobilize additional troops in Manchuria if the powers will back me morally against the Bolshevists. A clash between Chinese and foreign troops is a calamity I wish to avoid."

Foreign military observers characterize Marshal Chang's statement as his "public attitude", declaring that the war lord would privately welcome strengthened foreign garrisons in North China, if troops were sent in, not in the guise of intervention but merely to guarantee safe and free exit to foreign residents from Peking to Tien-Tsin.

The United States garrison at Tien-Tsin has not been strengthened, remaining at its old strength of two battalions. So far as known no extraordinary orders have been received by the American forces at Tien-Tsin.

Zanesville's Probate Judge Resigns.

ZANESVILLE, O., April 5.—Probate Judge Clarence A. Graham, today was awaiting the appointment of a successor following his resignation tendered Gov. Donahey, late Monday. Judge Graham was elected in 1924 for a four-year term. He is a Democrat.

ABBOTT TAKES ROTARY POST

Officers are Installed at Noon Luncheon Meeting.

Martin Abbott, vice-president of The Stevenson Foundry & Machine company, Wellsville, was installed as president of the East Liverpool Rotary Club at the noon luncheon meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

Malcolm Thompson, retiring president, thanked fellow officers, directors and members for their co-operation during the year.

"Under the leadership of Martin Abbott, who has all the attributes of a real Rotarian, this club is going to continue to prosper and be a real asset to East Liverpool," said Thompson in presenting Abbott.

Abbott, accepting the office, pledged himself to work for the club's interests. He named Attorney Blaine Cochran, Superintendent of Schools Charles McVay and M. W. Thompson members of the committee to purchase the medals for the honor students in the high school graduating class. Charles Bowman will be chairman of next week's meeting.

Frank Wells outlined plans for the county meeting which will be held at Columbiana on April 14, in which members of the East Liverpool, Salem and Columbiana clubs will take part. Attorney G. B. Gilmer, Warren, will be the speaker. The meeting, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, will be held in the Odd Fellows' hall. Wells also told of the district conference, which will be held at Toledo, April 20 and 21.

Harry Walker, superintendent of the Homer Laughlin China company, chairman of the meeting, introduced Dr. A. V. Bleininger, head of the research department of the same company, who spoke on "Present Day Industrial Problems."

Guns Bark in Chicago

ver and Thompson partisans caused police to take probably the most elaborate precautions in history to prevent intimidation of voters, rioting and possible murder.

This activity on the part of police has already resulted in the death of one gangster and the arrest of several others. Vincent "Schemer" Drucci, successor to the late gangland chief, Dean O'Bannion, was shot and killed late yesterday by Police Officer Dan Healy while Drucci and two of his henchmen were being taken to headquarters in a bureau car.

Drucci is said to have cursed Healy and then struck him with his fist. His arrest followed a police order to roundup all known gangmen.

During this general roundup, a man who gave his name as Robert Lewis and who is said to have admitted that he was a Detroit gunman, was arrested carrying a suit case which police said was filled with hand-machine guns and sawed-off shotguns.

Lewis told police he had "connection" with prominent Chicago boozo runners who did business between Chicago and Detroit. Police, however, were of the opinion that Lewis was one of several Detroit gunmen "imported" especially for today's election.

South Side wards in the heart of the "black belt" are admittedly the potential danger spots, although virtually every section of the city is on edge in fear of gang lawlessness.

"HOODOO" SEEMS TO FOLLOW FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT

BELIEF GROWS AS ACCIDENTS BEFALL CHIEFS

SCRIBES AFFECTED

"Jinx" Overshadowed by Possibility of Clash Over Auto King.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 5—Swinging from the snowy cotton fields of the south to the golden grain belt of the middle west counsel for Henry Ford today traced the purse-filling activities of Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king for the benefit of the jury in the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

On the witness stand for his sixth day of cross-examination, Sapiro admitted receiving scores of fees and retainers for his work among farmers. His total gross fees surged above the $500,000 mark for the last ten years.

Sapiro told, too, of being paid $1,000 for attending a three-day conference of the American Farm Bureau at Chicago in July, 1920. This fee included his expenses to and from San Francisco, he said, but it was paid for only three days' work at the conference.

DETROIT, April 5.—Disciples of mysticism today believed a "hoodoo" follows the million dollar "Ford-Sapiro libel suit."

The belief grew as an unusual series of accidents and "bad luck" incidents continued to befall those who are taking part in the trial in federal court here. Both the principals, Henry Ford and Aaron Sapiro, have been visited by ill luck since the trial began.

Ford was injured in a motor crash, the first serious accident to occur to him in his life and the first of any sort in the last seven years. Sapiro's bad luck was visited upon his family, a son being stricken with bronchitis shortly after the trial began and a daughter contracting scarlet fever over the last week-end. Attorneys court attaches and newspapermen also reported themselves victims of the supposed "hoodoo."

Ford meanwhile continued to show steady improvement from the injuries he suffered last Sunday night. The auto king was tightly bound into a canvas jacket to prevent any undue strain upon his wrenched back and chest. He was permitted to read and experiment with blue prints but he made no effort to leave his bed. His physicians expected him to be out of bed before the end of the week.

Prepare to Call Ford.

The "jinx," however, was overshadowed somewhat by the possibility of a clash later this week over the desired appearance of Ford as a witness for Sapiro. Statements issued by opposing counsel indicated that Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond may be called upon to send a physician to visit Ford to determine just how badly he was injured in the motor accident.

This possibility loomed with Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, announcement:

"We will probably finish with Sapiro's cross-examination before the end of the week. But Mr. Ford will not appear on the witness stand this week." He would not amplify the statement.

At the same time, William H. Gallagher, chief of Sapiro's counsel said:

"We will call Mr. Ford as soon as his counsel concludes their examination of Mr. Sapiro. I expect it will be before the end of this week. If there is not a satisfactory explanation of his illness, I shall ask the court to appoint a physician to examine him."

Four Ill, One Hurt.

Judge Raymond meanwhile told International News Service he could not pass upon the question of Ford's illness or appearance until he heard statements from opposing counsel. The court would not anticipate his possible action.

The judge incidentally doesn't believe the trial "hoodooed."

Although his own health has not been the best since he came to Detroit to preside over the trial, he doesn't blame it on the libel suit The court bailiff, Lyman L. Gilbert, however, was stricken with bronchitis since the start of the case while three newspapermen became ill. A daughter of Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, was struck by a trolley car a week ago while all the attorneys concerned blame the trial for heavy losses in their private practice. So far as their business goes, the lawyers believe the suit is "jinxed."

STATE MINING CHIEFS' RIFT WIDER TODAY

Little Hope Remains of Joint Wage Conference.

LONG SHUTDOWN

Union Leader and Operators Exchange Letters.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—The rift between union coal miners and Ohio mine operators was today wider, rather than narrower, following an exchange of letters between Lee Hall, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, and S. H. Robbins, of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association.

Little hope remained that the miners and mine owners could be brought together in a conference for settling differences. The mines, as a result, will be shut down for at least several months, according to general opinion.

Operators' Letter.

The position of the operators is made clear in a letter which Robbins sent Hall late yesterday afternoon. He said in part:

"Any conference between the coal miners and operators of the state of Ohio that does not take into consideration competitive conditions would, as I have stated to you before, be futile. I am sorry that you and your members are not willing to participate in a conference that will consider competitive conditions in an effort to formulate a wage scale for the mines of Ohio.

"I think you will also agree with me that it is very important that any wage scale that it might be possible to agree upon should be continuous so that the coal consuming public can have the assurance of a regular and continuous supply of fuel."

Cite Non-Union Figures.

The Ohio coal bureau today announced figures in support of its contention that miners in non-union districts have been receiving steadier employment and more aggregate wages than those in union sections. The statistics concern Kanawha mines in West Virginia, which were operated by union men in 1921 and subsequently became non-union.

The figures show that the average yearly income of mine workers was $1,367.25 during the union period and $1,739.93 during the non-union; that the average union coal cutter received $2,141.70 yearly and the average non-union coal cutter received $3,148.32.

Robbins, in commenting on these figures, said:

"It shows conclusively that if Ohio miners will accept a competitive wage scale, the operators will be able to furnish steadier employment, enabling these men to earn annually much more money than they have been able to earn during the spasmodic operating period of the last three years."

He concludes:

"Unless the miners agree to meet the operators on a fair basis so that the mine owners can operate their mines in competition with mines south of the Ohio river, it will be useless to attempt to operate and useless to discuss it."

Pittsburg Sheriff's Warning.

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—Sheriff Robert H. Braun, of Allegheny county, where 18,000 union miners are idle as a result of the bituminous suspension, served notice on miners and operators alike today he would permit no "bloody Williamson county" scene to be enacted within his domain.

The Allegheny county sheriff made this announcement in explanation of his order forbidding the assemblage of three or more persons in the vicinity of mines operated with non-union miners.

"While the rule may be objected to by some," said the sheriff, "I consider it absolutely necessary in the interest of peace. The rule applies to both factions in the wage controversy."

Ford Food Stores Closed to Public; Too Much Business

DETROIT, April 5.—Henry Ford's food stores which last year made a profit of $400,000 and at the same time saved the average family which traded with him from $500 to $600 annually in their living costs, were to be closed to the general public today. The Ford stores will remain open as heretofore for all Ford employes.

Announcement that the public would be barred from the Ford commissionaries was made last night at a meeting held by the Michigan Retail Merchants' association.

G. N. Staples, head of the Ford commissary division gave as the reason the fact that "there has been too much business for us to handle."

Ford last year sold $12,000,000 of supplies in his stores and made a profit of $400,000 a little better than 3 per cent.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 5.—The forward movement in the speculative railroad stocks gained momentum in the arly trading today as the result of an influx of buying for western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Katy and other well known shares. The New York Central interests were reported the most aggressive buyers of Western Maryland, while Erie's sharp advance was attributed to further acquisition of stocki n the open market by Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate promoters.

With most of the Wall Street statistical records showing daily excursions for the industrial and railroad stocks into the highest price territory in the history of the street, the speculative experts caled attention to the strong statistical position of the market. U. S. Steel common shattered all of its past records when the stock pushed forward to 170¾, while Erie common duplicated this performance in the railroad division.

An echo of the unsettled situation in Mexico, and the decline of oil production there was seen in the decline of Pan American Petroleum B and A new low price of 56½. The company which is owned by Standard Oil of Indiana, pays $6 annually on both classes of common stock, but Wall Street is not convinced that the big Standard company will stand behind the disbursement in the event of falling earnings of Pan Pete. The balance of the oil group was fairly steady.

POWDER BLASTS IN OHIO FIRE IMPERIL MANY

Windows Broken as Blaze Rages in Cleveland.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Flames Sweep Powder Plant, Threaten Adjoining Places.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—A series of explosions at the East End plant of the Ohio Bronze Powder company early today imperiled many lives, drove several persons from adjacent apartments into the streets and smashed scores of windows and skylights in the immediate neighborhood. Several persons were cut by broken glass.

The blasts were caused by streams of water from firehose striking powder, according to Assistant Fire Chief Nimmo.

Damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000.

For a time the flames threatened the adjoining plant of the Jordan Motor company and other manufacturing plants. Apartment buildings nearby were also threatened and several families had prepared to remove their furniture when the blaze was brought under control.

Lightning Blamed.

Fireman George Lace was taken to a hospital to be treated for injuries sustained in fighting the fire. One blast after another caused a severe handicap to the fire fighters. At one time more than a score of firemen were hurled to the ground by a terrific triple blast.

Lightning during an early morning electrical storm is believed responsible for starting the fire.

The powder plant fire was Cleveland's second serious conflagration within 12 hours. Late yesterday the second floor of the Hickox building in the heart of the business section was swept by a blaze which caused estimated damage of $30,000. Traffic was tied up for over an hour. Assistant Fire Chief J. H. Granger was cut about the hands when glass, broken by the severe heat, fell from a transom. Three large plate glass windows, also broken by the eat, fell into the street but no one was injured ily of four, well, on $25 a month. You will soon be able to buy her book, translated.

More important in America, however, is our system of increasing wages, that make is unnecessary to save the bread crumbs for puddings and limit to 12,000 calories daily a family of four.

"As many calories as I want, and some margin for extravagance," is the American demand. And not "How little can I live on?" but "How much can I get?"

A BOOK really needed is one that would keep Americans from breaking all world records for time, work and happiness lost through illness.

The united hospitals' report for New York city alone shows an average of 150,000 ill in bed all the time, and 600,000 more made unfit to work by some sickness.

SEVENTY per cent of that is due to ignorance, at least, and not a little of it to the ignorance of doctors that understand neither diagosis nor cure, also some that would consider prevention of disease "bad business."

Admiral Williams, commander of the American warcraft in Chinese waters, and General Smedley Butler, commander of the United States marines, will have more than 7,000 bluejackets and marines under them when the reinforcements now on the way arrive here. These include the 1,500 marines due to sail from San Diego, Calif., today or tomorrow.

Evacuate Chang-Sha.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Chinese situation, as it affects safety of foreigners, assumed an alarming aspect today on the basis of additional reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

Evacuation of Chang-Sha in western Honan province, is being hastened because of labor and anti-foreign agitation, Admiral Williams reported, and the American consulate there will close Thursdey, ten days earlier than previously planned.

The attack on Japanese sailors at Hankow, resulting in the killing of three of them, shows indications of having been "deliberately planned and pre-arranged," Williams reported.

Chang Opposes Foreign Troops.

(Copyright, 1927, By International News Service.)

PEKING, April 5.—While deeply hostile against the Bolshevists, nevertheless Marshal Chang Tso-Lin regards the sending of large forces of British reinforcements and other troops into North China as an unwelcome act, the Manchurian war lord declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service today.

"I have the situation well in hand," said Marshal Chang, who commands the northern army defending Peking. "The Cantonese cannot proceed northward. Therefore additional foreign garrisons are not needed.

"I am ready to mobilize additional troops in Manchuria if the powers will back me morally against the Bolshevists. A clash between Chinese and foreign troops is a calamity I wish to avoid."

Foreign military observers characterize Marshal Chang's statement as his "public attitude", declaring that the war lord would privately welcome strengthened foreign garrisons in North China, if troops were sent in, not in the guise of intervention but merely to guarantee safe and free exit to foreign residents from Peking to Tien-Tsin.

The United States garrison at Tien-Tsin has not been strengthened, remaining at its old strength of two battalions. So far as known no extraordinary orders have been received by the American forces at Tien-Tsin.

ABBOTT TAKES ROTARY POST

Officers are Installed at Noon Luncheon Meeting.

Martin Abbott, vice-president of The Stevenson Foundry & Machine company, Wellsville, was installed as president of the East Liverpool Rotary Club at the noon luncheon meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

Malcolm Thompson, retiring president, thanked fellow officers, directors and members for their co-operation during the year.

"Under the leadership of Martin Abbott, who has all the attributes of a real Rotarian, this club is going to continue to prosper and be a real asset to East Liverpool," said Thompson in presenting Abbott.

Abbott, accepting the office, pledged himself to work for the club's interests. He named Attorney Blaine Cochran, Superintendent of Schools Charles McVay and M. W. Thompson members of the committee to purchase the medals for the honor students in the high school graduating class. Charles Bowman will be chairman of next week's meeting.

Frank Wells outlined plans for the county meeting which will be held at Columbiana on April 14, in which members of the East Liverpool, Salem and Columbiana clubs will take part. Attorney G. B. Gilmer, Warren, will be the speaker. The meeting, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, will be held in the Odd Fellows' hall. Wells also told of the district conference, which will be held at Toledo, April 20 and 21.

Harry Walker, superintendent of the Homer Laughlin China company, chairman of the meeting, introduced Dr. A. V. Bleininger, head of the research department of the same company, who spoke on "Present Day Industrial Problems."

ver and Thompson partisans caused police to take probably the most elaborate precautions in history to prevent intimidation of voters, rioting and possible murder.

This activity on the part of police has already resulted in the death of one gangster and the arrest of several others. Vincent "Schemer" Drucci, successor to the late gangland chief, Dean O'Bannion, was shot and killed late yesterday by Police Officer Dan Healy while Drucci and two of his henchmen were being taken to headquarters in a bureau car.

Drucci is said to have cursed Healy and then struck him with his fist. His arrest followed a police order to roundup all known gangmen.

During this general roundup, a man who gave his name as Robert Lewis and who is said to have admitted that he was a Detroit gunman, was arrested carrying a suit case which police said was filled with hand-machine guns and sawed-off shotguns.

Lewis told police he had "connection" with prominent Chicago boozo runners who did business between Chicago and Detroit. Police, however, were of the opinion that Lewis was one of several Detroit gunmen "imported" especially for today's election.

South Side wards in the heart of the "black belt" are admittedly the potential danger spots, although virtually every section of the city is on edge in fear of gang lawlessness.

Farm Organizations Seek Appropriation For Extension Work

County commissioners were asked Monday afternoon to set aside an appropriation of $3,500 for extension work and including the salary and expense of a home demonstration agent for this county when a delegation met with the commissioners in common pleas court No. 1.

There were 37 women and 23 men in the crowd, these representing the major farm organizations of the county.

A. E. Bailey of Knox township was the spokesman. He first introduced Mrs. Mabel Scatterthwait of Butler township, who told the commissioners the need of a home demonstration agent being added to the Columbiana county extension force. She was followed by Mrs. Jesse Potorff of Salem township, who referred to the need of such an addition to the farm Bureau work of the county as it had to do with Boys and Girls club work.

Willis Boone, deputy state master of the grange of this county also spoke in favor of the proposition, as did Roy Whinnery of Butler township and Barnett Graham.

The county now contributes $1,500 annually to the support of the county agent under existing laws.

No definate answer was given by the commissioners, they advising that the proposition would be taken under consideration. Whether or not the suggestion will be put into effect this year will depend whether or not the county is financially able to carry the additional expense.

Application Made For Improvement of Road Near Negley

"We would be glad to spend $400,000 on our new plant within the next 90 days if it was possible," J. E. White of Pittsburgh, Pa., told the county commissioners Monday afternoon, when an application was made to the county for assistance in keeping a road from Negley to the new clay plant east of Negley and just over the state line in Pennsylvania.

There are between 40 and 50 men now doing grading work and building foundation for the main plant which will be 1,400 feet in length, and the majority of these reside in either East Palestine or the Negley district. "We're going to employ practically all our help from Columbiana county," Mr. White said, "and our factory heads will reside at East Palestine."

The commissioners recently passed a resolution agreeing to improve any road in Columbiana county to meet with any improved road Pennsylvania builds to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. On one of these roads, extending from Negley there are plants, which includes the new White plant that distributes an aggregate payroll of $53,000 weekly.

FINAL PAYMENT ON BOND ISSUE

The last of a bond issue of $20,000 authorized 20 years ago by the trustees of St. Clair township for the building of the first paved road in that township was paid today by Clerk James Venes. The road extended from Calcutta southward to the St. Clair-Liverpool township line, and two years ago was replaced by the present paved road.

The last $1,500 bond issued for the improvement of the Calcutta-Fredericktown road was paid by the county last August. This was a seven year issue. The county paid 90 percent of the cost and there was an assessment of 10 percent on this project.

To Deliver Address.

C. L. Blackman of Ohio State university will address a meeting of the Columbiana County Cow Testing association scheduled to be held at Lisbon next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lisbon city building. He will speak on "Breeding and Dairy Cattle." In addition to cattle owners, distributing dairymen are also asked to attend this session.

So Many Endure Catarrh Needlessly

Why bear with the distress of stopped-up head, constant phlegm in the throat, irritating mucus discharge, or other unpleasant effects of catarrh when thousands have proved that you, too, can get rid of catarrh.

Catarrh is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—the delicate lining of nose, throat and head. Clear that up, and catarrh—catarrhal bad breath—and catarrhal deafness disappear.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine has been successful in the treatment of catarrh for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE

There is just one right way to keep the skin clear and smooth

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S.

You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight. I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils and other troubles. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

MEETS LISTED ON CORN BORER

Plowing Demonstrations Arranged by County Agent Lower.

Under the supervision of S. N. Van Blaricom of Salem, a number of corn borer plowing demonstrations have been arranged by County Agent Floyd Lower for this county, the demonstration having to do with the use of present farm equipment, and the possibility of this equipment doing effective work.

The first demonstration is scheduled for 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning on the farm of Ira Todd on the Lincoln highway near Lisbon. Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock there will be a demonstration on the Frank Spidel farm near Hanoverton. Other demonstrations scheduled are as follows:

Thursday 1:30 p. m., on the John Buechecker farm near Unity.

Friday, 1:30 p. m. on the J. J. Quigley farm on the Leetonia-Columbiana road at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing.

Monday 1:30 o'clock place of demonstration near Salineville to be announced.

Tuesday 9:30 o'clock Negley. Demonstration farm to be announced.

Tuesday 1:30 o'clock on the J. C. Bowers' farm near New Waterford

Thursday, near Moultrie, time and place to be announced.

H. O. Brown of New Springfield has been assigned as supervisor for Mahoning and Columbiana counties in charge of regulatory work, and his report is to be filed with the farm bureau of both counties, and later referred to the state department of agriculture and also the department at Washington.

Divorce Petition Filed.

A petition for divorce has been filed in common pleas court by Helen D. Mauer of R. F. D. No. 1, Hanoverton, against her husband, John G. Mauer of 84 Broadway, Salem.

The couple were married, Oct. 8, 1924. The defendant is charged with gross neglect of duty.

Farm Organizations Seek Appropriation For Extension Work

County commissioners were asked Monday afternoon to set aside an appropriation of $3,500 for extension work and including the salary and expense of a home demonstration agent for this county when a delegation met with the commissioners in common pleas court No. 1.

There were 37 women and 23 men in the crowd, these representing the major farm organizations of the county.

A. E. Bailey of Knox township was the spokesman. He first introduced Mrs. Mabel Scatterthwait of Butler township, who told the commissioners the need of a home demonstration agent being added to the Columbiana county extension force. She was followed by Mrs. Jesse Potorff of Salem township, who referred to the need of such an addition to the farm Bureau work of the county as it had to do with Boys and Girls club work.

Willis Boone, deputy state master of the grange of this county also spoke in favor of the proposition, as did Roy Whinnery of Butler township and Barnett Graham.

The county now contributes $1,500 annually to the support of the county agent under existing laws.

No definate answer was given by the commissioners, they advising that the proposition would be taken under consideration. Whether or not the suggestion will be put into effect this year will depend whether or not the county is financially able to carry the additional expense.

Application Made For Improvement of Road Near Negley

"We would be glad to spend $400,000 on our new plant within the next 90 days if it was possible," J. E. White of Pittsburgh, Pa., told the county commissioners Monday afternoon, when an application was made to the county for assistance in keeping a road from Negley to the new clay plant east of Negley and just over the state line in Pennsylvania.

There are between 40 and 50 men now doing grading work and building foundation for the main plant which will be 1,400 feet in length, and the majority of these reside in either East Palestine or the Negley district. "We're going to employ practically all our help from Columbiana county," Mr. White said, "and our factory heads will reside at East Palestine."

The commissioners recently passed a resolution agreeing to improve any road in Columbiana county to meet with any improved road Pennsylvania builds to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. On one of these roads, extending from Negley there are plants, which includes the new White plant that distributes an aggregate payroll of $53,000 weekly.

FINAL PAYMENT ON BOND ISSUE

The last of a bond issue of $20,000 authorized 20 years ago by the trustees of St. Clair township for the building of the first paved road in that township was paid today by Clerk James Venes. The road extended from Calcutta southward to the St. Clair-Liverpool township line, and two years ago was replaced by the present paved road.

The last $1,500 bond issued for the improvement of the Calcutta-Fredericktown road was paid by the county last August. This was a seven year issue. The county paid 90 percent of the cost and there was an assessment of 10 percent on this project.

To Deliver Address.

C. L. Blackman of Ohio State university will address a meeting of the Columbiana County Cow Testing association scheduled to be held at Lisbon next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lisbon city building. He will speak on "Breeding and Dairy Cattle." In addition to cattle owners, distributing dairymen are also asked to attend this session.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

Vera Lulu Hall, through her counsel, Cochran and Crawford, of East Liverpool, has filed a divorce action in common pleas court against her husband, Virgil H. Hall, 416 West Seventh street, East Liverpool.

They were married at Chester, W. Va., July 5, 1924, and have one son, aged two years. Gross neglect of duty has been charged.

Hornsby Places Responsibility For His Trade On League

Breadon Claims Star Wanted To Move; Took Reduction In Salary

Second Sacker Now Get-ting $20,000 Less Than he Was Offered by Cards, Says Official, and he Knew he Had to Dispose of Stock.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Rogers Hornsby is being affronted by the New York Giants with a salary of $30,000 a year, not the $40,000 that the Fourth Estate conceded conceded him with magnificent abandon, it was learned today from a national league man who intimated that this fact would be used against Hornsby if he staggered into court under the weight of his financial cares. It has been Hornsby's contention these many weeks that he didn't ask to be traded to the Giants and that, therefore, the National league is responsible for the fact that he happens to be a New York player and a St. Louis stockholder at one and the same time.

The league, my informant intimates, will counter with the claim that Hornsby must have wanted to come to the Giants or else he would not have accepted a $30,000 contract here while refusing $50,000 in St. Louis The reason this man assigns as making the transfer desirable from Hornsby's standpoint is the oft-repeated story, to wit, that Hornsby and the Cardinals had reached a parting of the ways by mutual consent.

"Hornsby was perfectly satisfied to go to the Giants and he proved it by signing for $20,000 less than Breadon offered him," my informant declared. "He knew when he signed the Giant contract that he had to get rid of his St. Louis stock before he could play in New York. Any man knows that; therefore, why did he set his price at $105 a share, a figure at which no one cares to do business with him. At least no one seems to be interested at that price.

Heydler May Call Meet.

"It seems very simple to me. The stock has to go. The bidders won't meet the price set; then the price must meet the bidders."

But, in my humble opinion, it isn't as simple as that. The writer might over-value his neck, say at $3.89, and naturally the bidders would be dubious. But if they didn't care to meet my price, they couldn't have my neck, and no law in baseball or civil court could force me to sell my property under pain of depriving me of a livelihood. My valuation might be self-inflated, as possibly Hornsby's is, but that would be strictly my own, my native business.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, expects to issue an official call today for a special league meeting to consider an "out" from the embarrassing situation. Probably some kind of a compromise will be offered Hornsby, although it won't follow the suggestion, receiving some circulation recently, to the effect that the league itself will buy Hornsby's stock at the price quoted. In fact, no one can call the turn in advance, except on this point:

A new rule will be incorporated in the by-laws, either at this meeting or the annual conclave in December, forbidding ball players to own stock in any club, rival or otherwise. They have had one Hornsby case and don't particularly care for another.

OR WHAT HAVE YOU?

The dim pennant chances of the Brooklyn Dodgers depend mainly upon Manager Robinson's pitching staff—always his strong point. This year Butch Henline, star catcher obtained from the Phils, may play a big part in getting 100 percent out of that staff. Here he is warming up the day's choice.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller:

In the columns of this paper a few days ago I studied a picture of you making a golf swing. This picture, and also your score for the holes you played that day, were most interesting to me. You are living proof that golf is the great exercise for the retired business man. Regarding your swing I would like to make the following suggestion: A half upright swing, in the back swing, accomplished entirely with your hands and arms, with no thought of pivoting and no conscious effort whatever to pivot your body, will give you better timing, a very much less effort with your club, and consequently a considerably longer ball. In the picture I studied it was apparent that you were struggling with the club just a little in the back swing. A half upright back swing will remove all tendency toward struggle.

Yanks-Cards Tied.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—The Yankees and the Cardinals today are tied in the "spring world series" with three victories each. The Yanks swamped the Cards yesterday, 15 to 8. Ruth got two doubles and Combs of the Yanks and Hafey of the Cards each clouted a homer with the bases full.

Bucs Will Open Home Season Against Reds

Lid Will be Pried Off on Thursday, April 21; Both Clubs Have Chance at Flag.

GET out your date book and the old blue pencil and put a big ring around Thursday, April 21, for on that day all sport loving fans of the district will be carded for a very pressing engagement at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, when Donie Bush's California trained Pirates and Jack Hendrick's Florida trained Cincinnati Reds will open the National league baseball season in Pittsburgh.

No Pittsburgh team ever took the field with more promise than the Pirates of 1927, for it is the consensus of opinion that with the addition of Carmen Hill, Mike Cvengros and Ros Mahaffey to the pitching staff and other additions to last year's pennant contending team, the Buccaneers are stronger than ever and have become at once a most likely contender for the 1927 bunting. While the New York Giants have been strengthened by the addition of Rogers Hornsby at second and Burleigh Grimes to the hurling staff, they have weakened their team in other positions and many of the New York scribes are skeptical of the Giants' ability to make a much better showing than last year. Cincinnati also has been strengthened and the pennant hace begins to look like a free-for-all with the Pirates, Giants and Reds fighting it out at the finish.

See Another Flag.

Quite a few Pittsburghers, vacationing in California, glimpsed the Buccos in training and in exhibition games on the coast, and have sent back home some very optimistic predictions for the team. "Paint the old flag-pole white and let the world see it, for there surely is going to be another championship flag on it next fall," writes one of the more rabid bugs.

One of the many encouraging phases of the spring training work this year has been the showing of Glenn Wright, who, aside from a stoved finger keeping him out of practice work, has shown himself to be in the best shape of his career. The return of "Pooch" Barnhart to his real punch-producing self, and his selection by Manager Bush for the regular left field job, also has added a great deal of strength to the outfield, and with Barney, Cuyler and Waner, hitting on all cylinders, Pirate fans are going to see some stellar outfielding this season. The weak spot in left field last season will be absent this year.

The Pirates have an opponent par excellence in the Cincinnati Reds for the opening series. The Reds always have been a very colorful team and should be more so this season with the addition of long George Kelly procured from the Giants. The Cincinnati entry still sports one of the top-notch pitching staffs of the major leagues in Pete Donohue, Dolf Luque, Eppa Rixey, Carl Mays and Artie Nehf. The latter is said to have made a sensational comeback this spring, and the Bucco binglers are going to have plenty of man-sized batting practice when they stack up against such an exceptional array of talent. But the Buccos chased the great Luque out of the box several times last season, and none of the other Cincy hurlers had a Roman holiday on the mound against the Pirates, so there is no telling what will happen this year. But one thing is sure—Manager Bush's middle name is "Hustle" and the Corsairs are bound to be on their toes every minute.

The advance mail sale of tickets for the opening series has been heavier than last year's opening when a capacity crowd packed Forbes Field, and the indications are that the biggest Forbes Field opening in history is in the offing. Mail orders will continue to be filled until within a few days of the opening date, April 21.

Powers Winners In Volleyball Match

Defeat Asburys, Rival M. E. Class, in Games at 'Y'.

The Power and the Asbury classes of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school clashed in a series of three close volleyball contests last night at the Y. M. C. A., the Powers winning two of the three.

The Asbury outfit copped the opener, 15 to 12, but dropped the next two, the Powers taking the second, 15 to 11, and the third, 15 to 12.

The Asbury team lined up as follows: W. T. McNutt, Dr. F. G. Fowler, D. D. Irwin, O. H. Dawson, Fred McGillivray and Dr. K. T. Dotson.

The Powers—G. W. Durkee, Neil Shope, George E. Hayes, C. P. Deemer, O. E. Hall, Elbert Millward and T. F. Scheffer.

This was the second meeting of the season between the rivals, the Asbury class capturing the first engagement.

Sox Head Northward.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 5.—The White Sox were headed northward today via Texarkana where they play a single game and then hop to Memphis for two more exhibitions. Manager Schalk was delighted with the way his boys performed yesterday in beating Shreveport, 7 to 2. That gave the Sox four of the seven games.

CHICAGO CLUBS O. K. WEAVER

Semi-pro Teams Approve 'Buck' as League Member.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Buck Weaver, former White Sox third baseman, banished from organized baseball following the world series scandal of 1919, will again play baseball in Chicago, it was learned today.

Weaver, following his signing with a local semi-pro team, was passed upon and endorsed here last night at a meeting of officials of the Midwest League of semi-professional teams.

After listening to Weaver's story, the player having appeared in person before the body, the officials accepted him by unanimous vote.

Hornsby Places Responsibility For His Trade On League

Breadon Claims Star Wanted To Move; Took Reduction In Salary

Second Sacker Now Get-ting $20,000 Less Than he Was Offered by Cards, Says Official, and he Knew he Had to Dispose of Stock.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Rogers Hornsby is being affronted by the New York Giants with a salary of $30,000 a year, not the $40,000 that the Fourth Estate conceded conceded him with magnificent abandon, it was learned today from a national league man who intimated that this fact would be used against Hornsby if he staggered into court under the weight of his financial cares. It has been Hornsby's contention these many weeks that he didn't ask to be traded to the Giants and that, therefore, the National league is responsible for the fact that he happens to be a New York player and a St. Louis stockholder at one and the same time.

The league, my informant intimates, will counter with the claim that Hornsby must have wanted to come to the Giants or else he would not have accepted a $30,000 contract here while refusing $50,000 in St. Louis The reason this man assigns as making the transfer desirable from Hornsby's standpoint is the oft-repeated story, to wit, that Hornsby and the Cardinals had reached a parting of the ways by mutual consent.

"Hornsby was perfectly satisfied to go to the Giants and he proved it by signing for $20,000 less than Breadon offered him," my informant declared. "He knew when he signed the Giant contract that he had to get rid of his St. Louis stock before he could play in New York. Any man knows that; therefore, why did he set his price at $105 a share, a figure at which no one cares to do business with him. At least no one seems to be interested at that price.

Heydler May Call Meet.

"It seems very simple to me. The stock has to go. The bidders won't meet the price set; then the price must meet the bidders."

But, in my humble opinion, it isn't as simple as that. The writer might over-value his neck, say at $3.89, and naturally the bidders would be dubious. But if they didn't care to meet my price, they couldn't have my neck, and no law in baseball or civil court could force me to sell my property under pain of depriving me of a livelihood. My valuation might be self-inflated, as possibly Hornsby's is, but that would be strictly my own, my native business.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, expects to issue an official call today for a special league meeting to consider an "out" from the embarrassing situation. Probably some kind of a compromise will be offered Hornsby, although it won't follow the suggestion, receiving some circulation recently, to the effect that the league itself will buy Hornsby's stock at the price quoted. In fact, no one can call the turn in advance, except on this point:

A new rule will be incorporated in the by-laws, either at this meeting or the annual conclave in December, forbidding ball players to own stock in any club, rival or otherwise. They have had one Hornsby case and don't particularly care for another.

Elks Wind Up Cage Campaign Tonight Against Lafayettes

Rivals Will Battle On Duquesne Court In Second of Series

Pennsylvanians Hold Edge as Result of Victory in Opener Here Last Friday; Antlers Have Hopes of Evening up Standing.

The East Liverpool Elks club basketball team, playing their thirty-first game of the season, will finish their campaign tonight on a foreign floor when they tackle the Fink Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny county league, in the second game of a home and home series.

The game will be staged in the Duquesne high school court, in the city of Duquesne.

By virtue of their one-point victory over the Antlers here last Friday night, the Pennsylvanians hold the edge in the series and, naturally, another win tonight will make it unanimous.

However, Powell's passers have a fighting chance, despite the fact that the crucial engagement will be played on the Lafayettes' home stamping grounds. The Elks led Minnick's machine practically all the way in the battle here, only to lose out in the last minute on a long shot by Forward Minnick.

This Minnick was the chief offender in the matter of scoring and he did most of the damage in the second half. All he got in the first two periods were four fouls out of six attempts. In the second half he rang up five field goals, which were altogether too many. If the locals can bottle him up tonight, their chances for a victory will look better.

And, too, if the Elks had shot fouls in proportion to the ability of the Lafayettes, they would have gone into Duquesne tonight as winners. The Lafayettes were given 13 chances on the free line and they made 10 of them count.

In 17 chances at gift throws, the locals made nine, just a trifle better than half.

The Lafayettes will be out tonight to stop Nate Lippe, Elks' forward. Lippe got loose for seven field goals against the Duquesne lads Friday, five in the first half and two in the second. Two substitutions were made by the visitors in an effort to stop him, but neither had much effect.

If the Elks can operate on a system as effective as the one they employed against the Indians Saturday night, their passing will be much better than it was against the Lafayettes in the first game, and their scoring chances consequently, greatly improved.

The squad is scheduled to leave here shortly before 5 o'clock on the C. & P. A large number of local fans are expected to take in the engagement.

Nominating
FRANCIS T. HUNTER.

BECAUSE he has been one of our leading tennisers for several years whose work has been clouded by the despotic reign of Tilden, Johnston, Richards et al.

Because he has broken into the ranking ten two or three times despite the monopoly held on the leading places by the men mentioned, R. Norris Williams and others.

Because he recently proved his class by defeating Jacques Brugnon, French star, in the eastern indoor tourney.

Because he plans to go abroad this summer with Big Bill Tilden in quest of more honors.

And because his first stop will be Germany, where a grip on a stein is worth two on a racquet.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

AS this is written the Hornsby case nears the courts.

Determined to get what he considers the market price for his one-eighth share of the total stock of the St. Louis Cardinals, Rogers Hornsby, former manager and second baseman and now with the Giants, says he will continue to keep his stock—and play with the Giants—until forced to dispose of the first and quit the latter by court order.

And John McGraw, Giant manager, backs him up by announcing that Hornsby's financial connections with the Cardinals have nothing to do with the case as far as he is concerned.

Which puts the matter up to Judge Landis.

Landis is paid $65,000 to handle just such matters—any situations that threaten to disrupt baseball as a business or destroy its popularity as a sport.

The cause of the threatened legal battle was born during Landis' reign—and he can be censored for his failure to see the perplexities that might arise from such an arrangement at the time Hornsby was given the stock by the Cardinal owners. So it is plainly up to him to settle the matter now.

Hornsby asks $105 a share for his holdings. The club offers him much less. He has refused a compromise offer of $85 a share.

Owner Sam Breadon, because of the friendly manner in which the stock was tendered Hornsby and his aid in arranging the financial end, feels that Hornsby is showing little gratitude. Hornsby treats the entire matter as a straight business proposition and wants "his."

That is neither here nor there. The public doesn't care about the merits of the case. They want it cleaned up in a hurry. They've had enough of this "front office baseball," ever since the time Ban Johnson and Landis had their first front office jam.

Judge Landis is supposed to have the authority to make any move he believes proper "for the good of the game." He has the financial resources with which to carry out any moves involving cold coin.

If necessary he can take the stock at Mr. Hornsby's price, find a purchaser for it at the highest price offered—and ask the league to pay the difference.

The fans don't care how he handles the matter.

But—

They would like to wander through one baseball season that was unclouded or besmirched with pay-day heckling, high finance tactics, and blah-blah.

Come on, Judge.

Do your stuff!

IT has been broadcast to a more general extent than usual this year that Babe Ruth has a batting weakness and that that weakness is a low ball on the outside of the plate.

No doubt much attention will be paid by the various American league pitchers to this information—as it has been in the past. But you can count on Mr. George Herman the R. getting his homers with considerable regularity as usual—as far as the kind of pitching offered him is concerned.

For two reasons.

First of all no pitcher cares to flirt with the outside, low corner of the plate to the extent of walking Mr. Ruth constantly under ordinary conditions. Quite obviously a pass eliminates all opportunity of a putout at first as far as the individual play in concerned.

Secondly, while Mr. Ruth may not be at his best on such balls he has the happy faculty of "golfing" them just often enough to blast temporarily at least a pitcher's hope that he has solved Mr. Ruth's weakness.

We recall, pondering the matter, the cagy ability Nap Lajoie, great old second baseman of the Cleveland Naps, had to ruin pitchouts. Pitchers facing the great Frenchman with a man on base, would seek to slip over a wide ball in the hope of catching the runner stealing. To make assurance doubly sure they would proceed to have the ball some distance outside the pitcher's box.

Whereupon M. Lajoie would step softly across the plate and toss his bat at the pitchout with a playful gesture which would tap the ball into short right field.

SMITH SETTING FAST PIN PACE

May Land "All Events" Honors at A. B. C. Meet.

PEORIA, Ill., April 5. — Jimmy Smith, twice "all events" champion in the American bowling congress tourney, today bids fair to repeat his achievement following a banner session 'th the pins here last night.

Rolling with the Schaefer Delmar Recreation team of St. Louis, Smith set too stiff a pace for his teammates when he toppled 634 pins in his series. Smith's count was 223—213—198.

The team shot a 2764 series.

With two events to his credit, Smith expects to pull up with a third before completing his doubles and singles here this afternoon. Smith won the crown in St. Louis in 1911 and again here in 1920.

The Star A. C., Erie, Pa., team was high on the second squad with 2865. Erie Arbreiters, Erie, Pa., 2850; Pontiac Recreations, Pontiac, Mich., 2828; Diehl Bowlers, Elizabethtown, N. J., 2827.

Will Farrell Save Giants?

The forced absence of Travis Jackson, brilliant young shortstop, from the New York Giants' lineup, due to the recent operation for appendicitis in a Memphis, Tenn., hospital, hits temporarily at least, the Giants' pennant chances. Manager McGraw will be forced to fill his shoes at least until May 1. It is probable that Eddie Farrell, young college rookie, will be tossed into the breach.

TRAVIS JACKSON
N.Y. GIANTS - SHORTSTOP

EDDIE FARRELL

While Farrell has not the experience and finess of young Jackson, which the latter has acquired through five compaigns and two world's series, the former has proved his ability to fill an infield utility role capably ever since the day McGraw tossed him into the lineup twenty-four hours after his arrival from the university of Pennsylvania in June, 1925.

He broke into 53 games at short last season, hit .286 and fielded well. Illness forced Jackson out of about the same number of games.

TILDEN BOWS TO SPANISH CHAMP

WASHINGTON, April 5. — Wm. T. Tilden has stumbled again in his long fight to regain lost tennis laurels.

Manuel Alonzo, the captain of Spain's Davis cup team, took the rangy Philadelphian through a burning match here last night, winning finally, 4-6, 6-4, 7-9 and 6-3. A distinguished gathering, which included the Spanish ambassador, saw the match.

FINNEGAN'S TITLE CLAIMS BOOSTED

NEW YORK, April 5.—The claim of Honeyboy Finnegan of Boston to the featherweight championship was strengthened today by his easy victory over Frankie Fink of Texas in a ten-round bout here last night. Finnegan scored a knockdown and had the Texan groggy at the final bell.

I was pipe-shy for years, before I discovered Prince Albert. I wanted to smoke a pipe. Other men seemed to get so much comfort and enjoyment from pipe-smoking. Then one happy day, Prince Albert crossed my trail. It was cool and kind to my tongue and throat. I've stuck!

No matter what your previous experience has been; no matter how satisfied you appear to be with your present setup, I advise you to try Prince Albert. You know you are in for some glorious smoke-sessions the instant you get a whiff of P. A.'s fragrance.

The first pipe-load confirms the pleasure promised by the aroma. Cool as an open window. Sweet as milk fresh from the dairy. Mild and mellow as a tropic night. Mild, yet with that full, rich tobacco body that satisfies to the limit. I know you are going to like P. A.! Buy a tin today!

Symphony Orchestra Will Accompany Road Production.

There have been many motion pictures staged in the desert of the Sahara, pictures in which handsome sheiks carried off beautiful maidens and breezes blew through the palm trees until it seemed as pleasant a place as an ocean beach. But it remained for Herbert Brenon to put the burning desert and the bestiality it inspires in men on the screen in such a way that there is no romance in it, only torture.

Such a picture is "Beau Geste" which opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Thursday. It is a picture which plays so deeply on the emotions and yet a picture in which sex does not enter, a strange picture indeed in these days.

The sands of that arid desert seem to burn the very life out of the brave men of the Foreign Legion and make of them beasts and yet the love of three brothers for each other shines out through all the torture.

When Major P. C. Wren, himself a member of the Foreign Legion wrote "Beau Geste" he produced a boom which swept not only this country but France and England as well by storm and the Herbert Brenon production of this throbbing story takes on added realism.

The vast desert with its hills and endless vale of nothing but sand forms a strange background for the agonizing suffering of the little band of brave soldiers who are sent to defend an isolated fort. As the hordes of Arabs advance on the fort the whole desert seems to be filled with swift moving figures, one of the most impressive pictures the screen has ever furnished.

"Beau Geste" is the story of three young English boys, devoted to one another in their pleasant English home and just as devoted when the three of them join the Foreign legion, each thinking the other guilty of stealing a priceless jewell from their aunt.

Ronald Coleman as the handsome, ever smiling Beau Geste, Neil Hamilton as Digby Geste and Ralph Forbes as John Geste, each give a portrayal that stands out as a masterpiece.

It is not the characterization so much as the great emotion underneath and the tragedy of it all that makes "Beau Geste" so fine a picture.

Heat that makes men so mad that they laugh like demons is so apparent throughout the picture. It causes the perspiration to pour down the men's faces, to make their hair wet masses and to send them into the desert raving maniacs. It makes Noah Beery as Lejune, the bestial French commandant, a man so terrible that he hoists the dead bodies of soldiers into an erect position and put guns in their hands.

The presentation of "Beau Geste" is done along unusually artistic lines. A symphony orchestra of 18 pieces one of the largest ever used for the showing of a picture, will accompany the road production. The stage floor is covered with black cloth and the orchestra pit is hung with cloth in order that nothing may detract from the perfection of the showing.

There are many stars in the picture including Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Norman Trevor and others, but it is the power of the story and teh impressiveness of the endless desert that makes it so great a production, rather than the stars who are in it.

"Beau Geste" has a tender love story, but is probably is the only picture that does not rely on the love scenes and sex appeal to make it.

Hundreds of camels are used, thousands of horses and hordes of men but it is not a spectacle. It is just the story of the tremendous love of three brothers, a love which carries them into almost unendurable tortures.

All in all "Beau Geste" is as fine a picture as has been shown in many years, because the story is fine and because it has been done on a scale that is in accordance with the fineness of the story.

An American firm's speeding of Athens' new water supply system averted a serious shortage that was threatened there recently.

Finland has a plan to centralize its many government railway work shops into one large repair station at Helsingfors.

Symphony Orchestra Will Accompany Road Production.

There have been many motion pictures staged in the desert of the Sahara, pictures in which handsome sheiks carried off beautiful maidens and breezes blew through the palm trees until it seemed as pleasant a place as an ocean beach. But it remained for Herbert Brenon to put the burning desert and the bestiality it inspires in men on the screen in such a way that there is no romance in it, only torture.

Such a picture is "Beau Geste" which opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Thursday. It is a picture which plays so deeply on the emotions and yet a picture in which sex does not enter, a strange picture indeed in these days.

The sands of that arid desert seem to burn the very life out of the brave men of the Foreign Legion and make of them beasts and yet the love of three brothers for each other shines out through all the torture.

When Major P. C. Wren, himself a member of the Foreign Legion wrote "Beau Geste" he produced a boom which swept not only tihs country but France and England as well by storm and the Herbert Brenon production of this throbbing story takes on added realism.

The vast desert with its hills and endless vale of nothing but sand forms a strange background for the agonizing suffering of the little band of brave soldiers who are sent to defend an isolated fort. As the hordes of Arabs advance on the fort the whole desert seems to be filled with swift moving figures, one of the most impressive pictures the screen has ever furnished.

"Beau Geste" is the story of three young English boys, devoted to one another in their pleasant English home and just as devoted when the three of them join the Foreign legion, each thinking the other guilty of stealing a priceless jewell from their aunt.

Ronald Coleman as the handsome, ever smiling Beau Geste, Neil Hamilton as Digby Geste and Ralph Forbes as John Geste, each give a portrayal that stands out as a masterpiece.

It is not the characterization so much as the great emotion underneath and the tragedy of it all that makes "Beau Geste" so fine a picture.

Heat that makes men so mad that they laugh like demons is so apparent throughout the picture. It causes the perspiration to pour down the men's faces, to make their hair wet masses and to send them into the desert raving maniacs. It makes Noah Beery as Lejune, the bestial French commandant, a man so terrible that he hoists the dead bodies of soldiers into an erect position and put guns in their hands.

The presentation of "Beau Geste" is done along unusually artistic lines. A symphony orchestra of 18 pieces one of the largest ever used for the showing of a picture, will accompany the road production. The stage floor is covered with black cloth and the orchestra pit is hung with cloth in order that nothing may detract from the perfection of the showing.

There are many stars in the picture including Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Norman Trevor and others, but it is the power of the story and teh impressiveness of the endless desert that makes it so great a production, rather than the stars who are in it.

"Beau Geste" has a tender love story, but is probably is the only picture that does not rely on the love scenes and sex appeal to make it.

Hundreds of camels are used, thousands of horses and hordes of men but it is not a spectacle. It is just the story of the tremendous love of three brothers, a love which carries them into almost unendurable tortures.

All in all "Beau Geste" is as fine a picture as has been shown in many years, because the story is fine and because it has been done on a scale that is in accordance with the fineness of the story.

An American firm's speeding of Athens' new water supply system averted a serious shortage that was threatened there recently.

Finland has a plan to centralize its many government railway work shops into one large repair station at Helsingfors.

MARSHALL COUNTY MINES WORKING

Non-union mines in the Moundsville district are working about 70 per cent of full capacity, it was learned yesterday.

The operators declare that there were many of the old employes back at their places yesterday morning after being idle since Thursday, and expressed confidence that the mines will be working in full by the close of the week.

There has been no disorder whatever in Marshall county. State troopers make a patrol of the county each day and yesterday afternoon reported that the situation is entirely peaceful, and the miners who have not returned to work are apparently enjoying a spring vacation.

No activity by miners' union officials at Bellaire has been noted in the down-river coal fields.

The mines south of Moundsville, at McKeefrey, Cresaps and Woodland are working almost in full.

BURT TENDERED ROAD POSITION

Governor Gore Names Wheeling Man to Succeed Hiner.

D. A. Burt, of Wheeling, was tendered the post of state road commissioner yesterday by Governor Howard M. Gore to fill the vacancy on the commission caused by the resignation of C. E. Hiner. Burt will hold a conference with the governor tomorrow relative to accepting the position.

Governor Gore in accepting the resignation of Hiner suggested that he remain in office until the close of the legislative session on April 29. His resignation was prompted by the fact that he was charged with irregularities at the Nitro alcohol plant in a federal government report.

Mr. Burt has long been regarded as a progressive citizen of the Wheeling district and an able executive, as well as a valuable and important figures in financial circles. He is at present a member of the brokerage firm of Hazlett & Burt, and is actively engaged in the conduct of this institution. Prior to devoting his efforts to the brokerage business, Mr. Burt for many years held a high executive position with the Wheeling Steel Corportation, having been identified prominently with the steel industry before the merger of the companies which combined in the major independent corporation. He is still a member of the Wheeling Steel Corporation board of directors.

Mr. Burt has never evinced desire for public office, and his maiden venture in public affairs came a little more than a year ago, when he responded to the summons of Governor Gore to assume the chairmanship of a special state tax commission, to analyze the tax problem of West Virginia and to suggest remedial changes.

COUNCIL PLANS CLEAN-UP DRIVE

Council met in regular session last night in the municipal building, Fourth street and Indiana avenue. Owing to the absence of Mayor Frank H. Riley who is ill at his home the meeting was in charge of Clerk A. Earl Wilson.

Plans were discussed for the annual clean-up campaign which will be launched in the near future. Penalty of $5 will be assessed persons dumping refuse in streets or alleys.

Reports of the various officers were read and ordered made part of the records.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR RALLY DAY

Plans have been completed for rally day services to be held in the Church of the Nazarene next Sunday morning. Members of the various Sunday school classes will attend.

Revival meetings in the church are growing in interest and being largely attended. The sermons are being delivered by Rev. Lulu Kell, former pastor of the Newell Nazarene church. Final services will be held Friday night.

ESSAY WINNERS ANNOUNCED HERE

TOOK TWO YEARS TO GET OVER THE EFFECTS OF FLU

Credits Redwood's Tepee Tonic With Restoring His Health; Might Have Been Well Many Months Ago.

"Two years ago I had the flu and from that time to the time I used Redwood's Tepee Tonic I had never known a well day," says John Zelewski, 123 LaSalle St., South Bend, Ind.

Redwood.

"Every time I ate I would get sick at my stomach. I wore my clothes as loose as possible as I couldn't stand the pressure around by body. After trying many medicines I tried Redwood Tepee Tonic. By the time I had finished my second bottle my stomach had stopped hurting me. I can now eat whatever I want. I don't have that heavy feeling in my stomach any more.

"Redwood's Tepee Tonic has regulated my bowels and I never have to resort to the use of laxatives."

Non-union mines in the Moundsville district are working about 70 per cent of full capacity, it was learned yesterday.

The operators declare that there were many of the old employes back at their places yesterday morning after being idle since Thursday, and expressed confidence that the mines will be working in full by the close of the week.

There has been no disorder whatever in Marshall county. State troopers make a patrol of the county each day and yesterday afternoon reported that the situation is entirely peaceful, and the miners who have not returned to work are apparently enjoying a spring vacation.

No activity by miners' union officials at Bellaire has been noted in the down-river coal fields.

The mines south of Moundsville, at McKeefrey, Cresaps and Woodland are working almost in full.

BURT TENDERED ROAD POSITION

Governor Gore Names Wheeling Man to Succeed Hiner.

D. A. Burt, of Wheeling, was tendered the post of state road commissioner yesterday by Governor Howard M. Gore to fill the vacancy on the commission caused by the resignation of C. E. Hiner. Burt will hold a conference with the governor tomorrow relative to accepting the position.

Governor Gore in accepting the resignation of Hiner suggested that he remain in office until the close of the legislative session on April 29. His resignation was prompted by the fact that he was charged with irregularities at the Nitro alcohol plant in a federal government report.

Mr. Burt has long been regarded as a progressive citizen of the Wheeling district and an able executive, as well as a valuable and important figures in financial circles. He is at present a member of the brokerage firm of Hazlett & Burt, and is actively engaged in the conduct of this institution. Prior to devoting his efforts to the brokerage business, Mr. Burt for many years held a high executive position with the Wheeling Steel Corportation, having been identified prominently with the steel industry before the merger of the companies which combined in the major independent corporation. He is still a member of the Wheeling Steel Corporation board of directors.

Mr. Burt has never evinced desire for public office, and his maiden venture in public affairs came a little more than a year ago, when he responded to the summons of Governor Gore to assume the chairmanship of a special state tax commission, to analyze the tax problem of West Virginia and to suggest remedial changes.

To Get Success, Deserve It.

Mussolini Dislikes Beards.

$25 a Month for 4 Persons.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

IF YOU want success, outside of politics, deserve it. California, like the 47 other states, wants to be popular and have many visitors. Her "All Year" club advertises the state abroad, and California, having already the finest roads in the world, will spend $75,000,000 on more good roads this year.

STATES like New York that fight against a gasoline tax for good road building are fighting against property values, against the welfare of automobile drivers, and against their own growth.

MUSSOLINI tells Adolph Kinast, Swiss newspaperman, many things that show confidence in Mussolini, and in plans that Providence has made for him.

"Destiny has appointed me as the man to purify the soul of Italy," says Italy's ruler. He is about to have parliament pass a set of laws, "Every paragraph of these laws shall be obeyed."

Italy is to be made pure—and beards among other things are to be abandoned. Mussolini calls them "masks for solemn humbugs and nests for disease germs."

Alexander the Great shaved his face and made his soldiers do it that the enemy, fighting with the short sword, might not seize the beard as a handle to help in cutting off the head. Mussolini objects to beards as nests for germs, another and worse "enemy." Mussolini says he refuses to be assassinated, will live to 90 and then retire ,leaving instructions for Italy's guidance.

Italians believe him and no wonder. He believes in himself.

WE CALL ours a democratic government and Mussolini's an autocratic government. Mussolini drives young aristocrats out of the diplomatic service, saying he wants young men that have proved their ability.

We are encouraging so-called "career men" in our diplomacy, which means young gentlemen whose fathers can afford to keep their boys well supplied with money at foreign courts and send them abroad, knowing "how to enter a drawing room." Lincoln would find it hard to qualify as a career man, for the diplomatic service.

HOODLUM SHOT AS GANGSTERS OPEN FIRE ON POLLING PLACE

Women Terrorized by Outbreak in Mayoralty Election.

HEAVY BALLOTING

Both Mayor Dever and Thompson Predict Victory.

CHICAGO, April 5. — One hoodlum was believed wounded, a plate glass window was riddled with bullets and women voters and election workers terrorized today when gangsters attacked a polling place during the mayoralty election here.

Police stationed at the polling place returned the gangsters' fire. It was the first serious outbreak of violence after the voting began.

Two Bomb Explosions.

Five thousand policemen stood guard at the city's 2,384 precinct polling places, while 600 detectives patrolled the streets in riot cars, armed with revolvers, machine guns and bombs.

State authorities were in readiness at two Chicago armories to throw troops into action in the event of trouble.

One alderman in hiding, two of his workers chased off the streets, and the wreckage of two bomb explosions strewing the sidewalks were highlights of the early balloting .

State Senator John T. Joyce, Thompson ward leader, was believed kidnaped by rival election workers, when he failed to keep an appointment with some friends.

Record Poll in Three Hours.

The exceptionally heavy voting was declared by both William E. Dever, Democratic incumbent, and William Hale Thompson, Republican to bear out their claims of a landslide victory. Dr. John Dill Robertson, Independant-Republican candidate, insisted that he would receive more votes than both of his opponents.

Three hours after the polls opened more than 50 per cent of the total registered vote of 1,146,408 had been cast, a record.

First indication that violence would be resorted to came several hours before the polls opened at 6 o'clock when two Democratic headquarters in the 42nd ward were wrecked by dynamite bombs.

No one was injured and no arrests were made, the bombers having escaped in heavily curtained automobiles.

ANANIA CASE WITNESS ASKS BOND CUT

CANTONESE, CHECKED IN DRIVE NORTHWARD, TEST POWER OF FOES

U. S. Wins Fight For "Firm But Moderate" Policy

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The American government has won its fight for the adoption of a "firm but moderate" policy by the powers dealing with the Cantonese Nationalists in the Nanking outrages.

Identic notes are being drafted in Peking today by the American, British and Japanese ministers, strongly protesting the Nanking killings, warning against any repetition, and containing a demand for indemnity. These notes, exhibiting a solidarity of purpose among the principal powers affected, will be handed to the Cantonese either late today or tomorrow.

Nationalists, Pushing for Yellow River Line, Meet Defeats at Yen Cheng and Also at Kuantien.

JAPANESE NAVAL MEN AT HANKOW

American and British Residents of Shantung Province are Withdrawing to Safety Zones on Coast.

LONDON, April 5. — Identic notes of protest against the Nanking incident have been dispatched to the British, American and Japanese ministers at Peking, it was learned today.

These notes will probably be handed to the Cantonese leaders today.

The United States and Japan appear to have won Great Britain to their side, at least partially, and Great Britain's strong ultimatum will not be put upon paper, it is reported now, but Great Britain will supplement her note by a verbal statement warning the Chinese that she is prepared to take independent action to back her demands.

Suffer Heavy Casualties.

LONDON, April 5.—The Cantonese having suffered some reverses in their drive northward from Hankow, are now bringing up reinforcements and a test of the power of the northerners to turn back the Cantonese may be expected shortly, according to reports received here.

The Nationalists are driving for the Yellow river line and dispatches received here state that they have met defeats at Yen Cheng and also at Kuantien.

Heavy fighting in these two sectors is reported to have cost the Nationalists heavy casualties.

Nationalists Occupy Pengpu.

SHANGHAI, April 5.—Japan today is sending naval reinforcements to Hankow, present seat of the Cantonese government, where further mob violence is feared following fighting in the Japanese concession.

Practically all Japanese residents of Hankow are reported to have taken refuge on ships lying off the city. When reinforcements arrive there will be 11 Japanese warcraft at Hankow.

American and British residents of Shantung province are withdrawing to safety zones on the coast, and German residents of the Kiaochow district are sending their families to the coast for fear of fighting in that district between the Cantonese and northerners.

Nationalist forces north of the Yangtse valley have seized and occupied Pengpu, on the Tien-Tsin-Pukow railroad. The Cantonese are moving on Hauchowfu.

The defenses of the French concession in Shanghai are again being strengthened, and a call was made

ESKIMO DYING

Radio Instructions Flashed by Doctor to Nurse.

SEWARD, Alaska, April 5.—Heavy storms and low temperature over the Bering sea forced Joe Crosson, pilot with the Wilkins Arctic expedition, to give up his attempt to carry David Sepillu, wealthy Eskimo, reported dying on isolated St. Lawrence island, to a Nome hospital by plane, it was reported here today. Sepillu was being treated today by radio instructions given by a doctor in Fairbanks to a nurse at the patient's bedside.

Storm conditions will probably cause postponement of the Wilkins polar dash, it was believed.

Seek "Mystery Man" In Brutal Killing Of Man in Toledo

TOLEDO, April 5.—Police today are searching for a "mystery man," who is believed to have trailed Charles Ebner, 44, used car dealer here, for several weeks prior to the discovery of Ebner's bullet-riddled body on a lonely road near the Michigan state line Monday.

No motive for the killing has yet been definitely determined but police say the auto dealer, who had a police record, might have been the victim of an "underworld vengeance feud."

Ebner had served time in both Ohio and Michigan prisons.

Offer $1,600 Reward For Conviction of Clyde Boy's Slayer

CLYDE, O., April 5.—A reward of $1,600 has been offered for the capture and conviction of persons implicated in the slaying of Robert Wilson, 17, last week.

Frank R. Wilson, the dead boy's father, has offered $1,000 and the city council $500, and the American Legion $100 for information leading to the apprehension of those responsible for the murder.

County commissioners are also considering offering a reward.

The Wilson's boy's body was found near the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad tracks a week ago but police believe the youth was strangled to death, and the body then placed on the railroad right of way.

MARIE CHORGAS' LAWYER SAYS ACCUSED WOMAN MAY SUFFER BREAKDOWN

Attorney S. W. Crawford Will Urge Common Pleas Court to Reduce to "Reasonable Figure" Bail Fixed for Release of Wife of Minneapolis Confectioner.

PRISONER, ILL AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT, GIVEN MEDICAL AID

Husband Visits Imprisoned Sister-in-law of Salvatore Rini, Also Held on Murder Charge, But Makes no Effort to Furnish $20,000 Bail Fixed by Two Courts.

Formal motion for a reduction in the two bonds of $10,000 each, fixed for the release of Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, wife of a Minneapolis confectioner, being held in the county jail at Lisbon in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, Wellsville, will be filed probably tomorrow by her counsel, Attorney S. W. Crawford, it was announced today.

Crawford will ask that the bonds be reduced to a "reasonable figure" in view of Mrs. Chorgas' physical condition. The woman, suffering it is claimed, from injuries received in an automobile accident about four years ago, has been ill ever since her commitment to jail on March 22, when Anania was found dead in a Walnut street apartment.

Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter, Mrs. Chorgas was taken to Salem last Tuesday where she was examined by Dr. King, nose specialist. Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, has also attended the prisoner at the county jail during the last week. Crawford claims that the woman is on the verge of a physical break-down because of her imprisonment.

Confers With Judge Lones.

James Chorgas, the woman's husband, who arrived here late Saturday, has visited his wife in the county jail but no effort has been made to furnish bond. Property valued at $40,000, or double the bond, must be posted to obtain the woman's release.

The suspect's counsel will seek a reduction not only in the bond of $10,000 under which the woman is being held upon a murder charge but also of the $10,000 bail asked for her appearance as a material witness against Salvatore Rini, 26, who is also charged with murder in the Anania case.

Crawford was in Lisbon Saturday afternoon where he conferred with Judge W. F. Lones, regarding the second $10,000 bond which was set in common pleas court Friday afternoon upon application of Prosecuting Attorney Robert W. Brookes. Crawford said he explained the woman's condition to the judge and pledged that she would be available when wanted by the grand jury when it begins its investigation into the Anania death next Monday.

DINNER STORIES.

One day, recently, William Ellery Leonard, poet of the University of Wisconsin faculty stormed into the office of the college registrar, bubbling over with wrath.

With biting sarcasm he sputtered: "I don't know whether it makes any difference to the great University of Wisconsin; certainly it makes no difference to me, but this university has posted a sign with two of the simplest words in the English language misspelled! Why, I'd flunk a freshman for that!"

He stormed out, and the official responsible for the signs, of which there were several painted in large letters, hurried out and read as follows:

"Students who wish to write off conditions incured last year have untill Saturday to make application."

They were taken down hastily and repainted, with one more "r" in incured and one less "l" in untill.

Lover's Suggestion.

This little episode occurred in a grocery store which employed a clerk who was desperately in love.

Customer: I want two pounds of rice, please.

Clerk: I'm sorry we've no rice, sir; would confetti do?

Too Efficient!

Gray, returning from a visit to the city, was asked: "How do you like the combination furniture they have in some of these New York flats?"

"Not at all," he replied. "I went to bed in a piece of that kind of junk the other night at a friend's house and when I woke up, two women were servi g breafast on the foot-board, a fellow was signing checks on the head board and another fellow was under neath the bed making coffee."

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentation in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Pain is so often unnecessary

SUFFERED WITH PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDERS

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

Following a severe attack of rheumatic fever, a New York girl suffered for days with excruciating pain in her neck and shoulders.

"After trying everything else," she writes, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and after three days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. Instantly it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her and offers her a contract. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets.

RENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

Alice, reassured by the quiet character of Beverly, gave up worrying about her, especially as late hours were assumed on de Brissac's set. And Gran'ma was confined to her bed now, and couldn't pursue. She learned, with O'Malley, to enjoy Chinese food. That was safest, because he knew that de Brissac loathed it and never entered the places. And sometimes he drove her in his smart little car to Long Beach or out over one of the passes. But they never stayed out late; the work was too hard and the morning hour too near.

A fact she didn't understand was that it was precisely when de Brissac was nearest to her unhappy spirit, was stirring her emotions most deeply, that she had the most friendly quality to give out to O'Malley. Sometimes she wondered if she had become double-faced; but whatever she had become it was so. She would sit with her elbows on a Chinese table of carved black wood and marble listening with a nervous eagerness while he talked on and on about himself and his inventions and the immense future that lay so clearly ahead. She could talk with him now. It was so plain that he was at heart only an eager boy. She found she was stimulating him, helping him on in his big fight. He told her that, often, and she thought it fine. He was not given to insistent love making. Sometimes they held hands. On a few occations when he was deply moved she passively let him kiss her. It was odd, at those moments, that she though not so much of de Brissac as of the dimmer figure of Willie Mazzini (she had owed Willie a letter for weeks; she must write him). At times she believed that Henry was heading toward a proposal of marriage. The thought was alarming and yet beautiful. It was hard to think what she could say if it did come to that. Certainly they were drawing closer. The difficulty was that both men were driving closer. Situations might easily arise. Sometimes Henry exhibited signs of jealousy which both flattered and frightened her. She let it all drift. The months slipped rapidly, silently by, the soft climate tinged with unreality every day.

Even the increasing nervous tension of all concerned in the work of making the picture seemed unreal. Everyone but de Brissac was tired. There were quarrels. Mr. Zeeck was back in New York, and during his absence the general manager, a Mr. Kugler, undertook to cut down expenses. A new Mr. Lensol appeared one day, a tall austere man with curly black hair, walking thoughtfully over the lot with Mr. Kugler. It was instantly whispered about that he was the new Chairman of the Board, and that Mr. Zeck was putting up a battle to hold his control of the Earthwide Interests. But the work marched on. The moment came when Mr. de Brissac told them they were entering on the final fortnight. Even he began to exhibit signs of the long strain now. The lines in his face deepened and dark puffs appeared under his eyes. The lids, too, darkened. He took to having Hattie slip into his office at the end of the afternoon and rub his head. One day he told her that he was having the fight of his life. "But I'll win," he added quietly. He held her long in his arms that day. Timidly, furtively, she mothered him. She knew that he would win. No one could withstand his tireless energy. He never for a moment let down in manners or dress; was always smart in costume, always cool and, in that desperately world-weary way, patient.

A new director took possession of a vast area of floor space next to the complicated group of sets that now seemed almost a queer thought of home, and began a picture there. Hattie began to notice a small dark girl with strange eyes, nervously lighted eyes, who took to wandering over from the other set and apparently, watching herself; a young girl, hardly older than herself. Mr. de Brissac shook hands with her the first day, and then, Hattie thought, avoided her; though once she saw them talking in a corner. She wondered somewhat about that. He didn't speak of it. From day to day she became increasingly conscious of this girl.

It was spring now. The rains were over, the rains that had come so abruptly flooding down from the mountains and roaring through the deep gutters of the city; the days were pleasantly, languidly hot in the open if still sharply cold in the shaded places; on Sunday afternoons a long procession of gay automobiles moved down to the beaches where bathers crowded by thousands romping and swimming. Alice and Hattie took Emily often down to Santa Monica for a dream-like afternoon on the beach.

One day, at noon, Hattie sat in her miniature bungalow on the lot freshening her make-up after a hard morning's work. She had left the door open in order that the sunshine might stream in. De Brissac had whispered that she was to come to his office at five-thirty. She would go, of course. She always did. Oddly, the Hattie of the secret meetings semed not to be the Hattie of the quiet rides and dinners with Henry O'Malley, and not even remotely the Hattie who was learning to be kinder and more helpful at the apartment. It was as if her life were divided into three compartments, from one to another of which the slender flame of her personality flitted like a ghost. Often now it seemed that life had to be like that. De Brissac was fond of saying so, that every life was scattered on various queerly separated roads, that it was merely necessary to employ a little judgment in seeing to it that the roads never converged. And then he would quote Henley's "I am the master of my fate." He really seemed master of his own. And his insight was uncanny. Lately he had said—"You probably find it hard not to talk about me. You musn't talk. Learn to smile and be gentle and pretty and say nothing." . . . Now she had been increasingly beset by that tendency to bring his name into almost every conversation; not in any degree to dwell on their deepening secret; but just to bring in his name, to quote his offhand remarks. He was right, of course. Any shrewd person would sense his domination of her spirit. She had been training herself to keep his name wholly off her tongue. As a result, she knew, Alice and Gran'ma, whatever else they might worry about—and they were worrying a little about Hattie—suspected nothing. Even Henry, despite his flashes of moody vague jealousy, had no real suspicions. He though her too young and innocent. He saw no change in her. Whatever might happen, he musn't see any.

A voice said, very quietly—"Hello!"

She started, and turned in her chair, then slowly let the lip stick down on the dresser. That dark little girl stood there, her nervously bright eyes starting out of a yellow make-up, seeming to flicker with a green light.

"I used to have this room," the girl added, with a tight little smile.

Hattie couldn't fathom the irony in that slow voice. She could only reply, inadequately—"Oh, did you!" Her wits were fluttering. She hadn't yet outgrown the girlish fear that her own turbulent thoughts might be in some way visible to others.

Then, as surprisingly, the girl turned away. Hattie sprang up and stepped to the door in time to see her skirt flicking around the corner of the miniature street of bungalows into the open lot. . . . She was gone. Hattie felt her color mounting under the paint. Why had the girl come? What—who—was she?

The Value of Father John's Medicine

as a body builder

lies in two outstanding features which distinguish this old-fashioned medicine.

FIRST—THE QUALITY OF THE COD LIVER OIL USED, ALONG WITH OTHER VALUABLE INGREDIENTS, in its preparation.

Harvey A. Seil, Ph. D., of Seil, Putt & Rusby, 128 Water St., New York, recognized analytical chemists, made an analysis of Father John's Medicine and stated: "We have never examined finer Cod Liver Oil than that used in Father John's Medicine."

SECOND—THE TINY PARTICLES INTO WHICH THE COD-LIVER OIL IS DIVIDED by the specially designed apparatus in our modern laboratories.

Concerning this degree of fineness, Dr. Seil reports — "The Cod Liver Oil is broken up more completely than in any other medicine we have ever examined of this type, many of the oil particles found in Father John's Medicine being only one-tenth the size of the particles of butter-fat found in cream."

The Cod Liver Oil in Father John's Medicine is so excellent in quality and is so finely divided that its full food value is easily absorbed by even weakened digestive systems.

This is why people, especially the aged and weak, and pale, thin, underweight, undernourished children, gain health and strength from Father John's Medicine, which contains no alcohol or harmful drug. Over seventy years in use.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927.

Death of Robert W. Harker

The sudden death of Robert W. Harker, an executive of the Harker Pottery company, at his home in Newell, came as a shock to the East Liverpool district, in which he had spent the 45 years of his life.

Few, if any, men had more friends than "Bob" Harker, as he was familiarly known. Possessed of a personal magnetism, combined with a disposition that was seldom ruffled, he made and held new acquaintances.

And, too, fair play characterized his life. Whether on the baseball field, an outlet for his great enthusiasm and athletic ability, or in the business world, where he had made a success, he never would countenance unfair tactics. In the parlance of the West, he was a "straight shooter."

"Bob" Harker's place will be hard to fill, for he radiated happiness, spoke no evil and preached and practiced tolerance.

Moderation For China

The British lion has stopped roaring at China, apparently as a result of American and Japanese influence. The British idea was to send a stern ultimatum, demanding a big indemnity and humble apology for the Nanking offenses, and in general showing the Chinese where they got off.

Japan, older and wiser in her relations with China, and with a greater feeling of responsibility because China is a big neighbor that she has to live with, counseled more moderate action. It is reassuring to learn that the United States government has done likewise.

This country, unfortunately, has some grievances now against China. But there is nothing as yet justifying the United States in making war on the Chinese people or adopting such an attitude as will render future friendly relations with China impossible.

American sentiment generally seems to recognize that as matters stand, all our government is called upon to do is to afford whatever protection it can give to American citizens in China, help them to get away from the danger zone and insist that China do what she can to make amends and treat our people better hereafter.

America interests in China at present are small, but may become great. An aggressive attitude on our part at present would merely help pull other nations' chestnuts out of the Chinese fire and put us in bad with a nation whose friendship will be important in the future.

Steel Houses

Edison's idea of "poured" concrete houses is being surpassed by an idea still more modern. It is nothing less than standardized houses of steel.

A type now being built in Germany is circular, with a steel framework surmounted by a dome-like structure, the whole so light that it weighs only a few tons. The outer walls consist of two-inch slabs of insulating material, and are screwed to the steel frame. The entire construction is said to take only a couple of weeks.

An English manufacturer is building another type in Glasgow, for his workmen there. The walls are felt-lined steel plates, on a wooden frame, and can be assembled in a few hours. The outside is painted to resemble brick or given a thin veneer of artificial stone.

There is no telling how far the movement will go, in this age of steel. A few years ago the idea of steel furniture and inside trim for office buildings was scoffed at, and look at our office quarters and equipment now.

Steel as material for homes is not very appealing so far, but that is probably an artistic problem more than anything else. Make steel houses attractive, either concealing the steel or recognizing it as respectable building material and frankly making the best of it, and then the public attitude may change. It will help greatly if our metallurgists can realize their ideal of a rustless steel, or a cheap alloy that will not rust or stain.

Names And Makeup For Engines

There have been thrilling stories written about railroad engines, but on the whole they have been regarded as mere tools rather than personalities. Now there is a tendency to give them individual recognition.

Twenty new locomotives soon to be put in operation by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are painted olive green, striped with red and gold. Also they are to be named, each after one of the first 20 presidents of the United States.

This is a pretty good start, though one might imagine a locomotive wishing for more romantic names and livelier colors. Perhaps that will come in time. Then travelers may take an interest in the engine behind which they travel, and the engine may enjoy as much prestige as the great ocean liners which are known even to people who have never had a sea voyage or glimpsed a liner at dock.

What's happened to that Nevada gold rush? Some tourist must have carried off the mine for a souvenir.

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

"AND NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET—"

Years ago President Roosevelt was making one of his speech-making swings through the west. The special train bearing the presidential party was roaring through a canyon in Montana on the way to Butte. One of the newspapermen aboard had never before been in this part of the Union.

As he stood on the rear platform of the observation car, observing the scenery, he saw, on the farther side of the vast ravine, a succession of curious-looking orifices in the face of the gaunt mountain. Distance diminished these apertures to minute dimension, but it was evident, even to his inexperienced eyes, that they were artificial and not natural. Yet about them was no sign of human life. Seemingly they had been abandoned for a long time, as the piles of debris at their mouths were grown up with young bushes.

The newspaperman turned to U. S. Senator Carter, of Montana, now deceased, but then a power in his own state and in national politics.

"Oh, Senator," asked the curious one, "would you mind telling me what those funny-looking openings in that cliff yonder are?"

Carter cocked his eye in the direction indicated by the reporter, and the eye twinkled.

"My son," he said, "those are what are known in the west as holes in the ground and in the east as permanent mining investments."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 5.—Chinatown may still flaunt more hells than Swedenborg dreamed, but lately the outward aspect is peace and desertion. Slummers continue to go, see—and yawn. A few human dregs come to the surface from hidden catacombs, but that is all.

Slippered myrmidons of opium dens no longer flit ghostlike through the narrow tangle of streets running off the hip of Chatham Square. Nor do boozy, gold toothed blondes huckster their souls in a hell's market place.

I am told only three white wives of Chinese remain to peer through latticed windows at their forbidden world The sawed-off shot guns have not blazed in a tong war for more than a year. The fusty joss houses are only for tourists.

Most of the Chinese, who once frequented the quarter, are now living in Jersey towns. New arrivals, inspired by hope of native companionship, remain only a short while. It is entirely too dull and they tire of the gaze of the sight-seers.

The all night missions of Chinatown draw the greatest crowds. Here a spiritual repast is followed with free sandwiches and hot coffee. In the old Doyers Street Mission where hangs the oil painting of Sophie the Scrubwoman, beloved of the Bowery, a big line nightly forms.

It is not the blowzy crew of stragglers one might expect The faces are mostly those of youth who have lost an uneven battle with life and, seeking a new start, gravitate to that simple friendliness and helping hand the mission provides

The perennial bums from Bowery gutters are there of course, but their number is comparatively small The religion is of the old-fashioned sort with a nightly trail to the mourner's bench and a lusty rendition of "Washed in the Blood of the Lamb"

A midnight mission down and outer told me of the life northward that caused his downfall He said he had accepted the Broadway conception of existence—"a lotta laughs and a few headaches." But he said gravely the headaches outnumbered the laughs.

It is often said the Bowery is the last stop in New York before oblivion. Yet countless men and women too, have drifted to the lodging house despair of the section only to get a grip on themselves and become useful citizens. Every night at the innumerable Bowery missions are respectbale men and women who often come in limousines to give personal testimonies of regeneration. Some were untrussed by drink, others by drugs and a few were hapless victims of circumstance.

"He is as distinguished," similies a wag, "as the meter light on a taxi."

The latest spending spree along the White Way was indulged by a youth who was left a legacy of $9,000. It lasted 14 days and he wound up babbling in a sanitarium. When calmed down he was asked by an attendant what was responsible for his condition.

"Strong booze and a weak blonde," he answered.

That is doubtless a variant of those famous twin destroyers—fast ladies and slow ponies.

An old-timer sends a list of 37 famous restaurants attracting New York gourmets in 1910. They were packed daily by those who enjoyed dining leisurely. Only five remain and just one is doing a good business. New York's minutemen want minute meals. The idea is to gulp and gallop.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Youthful Suicides.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—The surprising thing about the recent so-called epidemic of youthful suicides in the United States, it now appears, is that it is not an epidemic, and that the number of such suicides is far less than it was a few years ago. That, despite the fact that numerous newspaper and magazine articles and editorials have been published and many sermons have been preached deploring the suicidal tendency among the youths of the land and seeking to arrive at an explanation of the whys and wherefores.

Obviously no explanation is needed if the number of suicides is not extraordinary, and that, it seems is the case. In other words, no one has occasion to get excited and jump at the conclusion that there is something radically wrong with our civilization, with the way young people of today are being reared and educated, or with the modern home environment and influence.

During the first two months of this year 19 college and high school students took their lives. Probably no one case was of sufficient importance in and of itself to receive more than brief mention in the local papers, but one of the queer quirks that occurs not infrequently in the evaluating of "news" led to the "playing up" of each of these suicide stories, and, cumulatively, each additional one became more sensational.

Then the psychologists, the psychiatrists, the preachers, the teachers, the social workers, and many other specialists got busy in an effort to explain why so many young people were tired of life before they had fairly started it. Many diverse and astonishing opinions have been expressed in connection with the recent suicides, it is pointed out in the official publication of the Parents' Publishing association. The causes ascribed to them range all the way from "too much interest in immortality" to "too young college teachers," while suggested preventives vary from "ten minutes gymnastics when contemplating the fatal deed" to "more of the good old-fashioned strong gospel."

What the Statistics Show.

But the statisticians have also got busy and they are able to prove that conditions are not so alarming as they have been heralded. They call attention to the fact that in the year 1913, 477 youths under 20 years of age committed suicide in this country. In 1920 the number jumped to 709, in 1921 it was 858, and in 1922 it was 900.

These figures are far and away beyond those for the past twelve-month period, and yet there was little talk of a "wave of youthful suicide" in those years. Apparently there were other happenings of more engrossing public interest at that time. In 1923 the number of suicides of youths under 20 dropped to 449, and by 1925, the last year for which records are available, the low level of 339 had been reached. Even at the rate of 19 for the first two months of this year it is asserted that the total for 1927 will follow the downward trend, although there is no reason to believe the rate will be maintained.

"There is a well known seasonal curve in the frequency of suicide," says Zilpha Carruthers, who made a survey of the subject for Children, The Magazine for Parents, that has been mentioned. "This mysterious and tragic cycle rises sharply beginning late in January, making three-fifths of its total yearly increase in the single short month of February, and reaching its peak in May. It drops rapidly to a minimum in August, and remains low the rest of the year. It looks as if 1927 were running true to form."

It's allus fascinatin' t' read about th' ole pioneer days, but jest think how awful it must have been fer parents t' have t' live in th' same cabin in th' days before girls' finishin' schools, with an eighteen-year-ole daughter.

Haskin's Letter

than four per cent in 1923 and less than three per cent in 1925 of all American suicides were under 20 years of age. During the first 20 years there are fewer suicides than in any single five years thereafter, less than four thousandths of one per cent of our minor population—one out of every 400,000—ends in suicide.

Of the juvenile suicides in 1921 40 were said to be college students, and in 1923 there were 38. However, in the last year mentioned 79 millionaire suicides were listed. There are far more college students than there are millionaires in the United States, and yet when more than twice as many of the men of wealth took their own lives no one discovered a "wave of millionaire suicides."

Waves of Other Years.

As further evidence that the situation with respect to the self-destruction of youths is in no sense or degree new excerpts from newspapers of years ago are cited. One is a headline that was published 40 years ago. It reads: "Suicides of Children—Is Modern Life Too Rapid?" Another headline, 31 years old, runs: "Boy Suicides Increase—Life Too Strenuous For Young." These exhibits might have been taken from the newspapers of the present year, for headlines of almost identical wording have been appearing frequently.

The third citation is only 19 years old, but it is particularly interesting because it is an excerpt from an editorial and may be compared with the editorials that are being written and published at the present time. It reads:

"In fact the paragraphs headed 'A Youthful Suicide' have become such a frequent occurrence of late that we hardly stop to notice them but pass on lightly to some more piquant narrative of vice."

In an effort to arrive at the cause of youthful suicides the "last words" or messages of the 19 who killed themselves during January and February were checked up. Not all of them left explanations of their tragic acts, but of those who did there was no motive common to all. One lad had a tiff with his sweetheart and was disappointed in her. Another felt that he was a burden to his family and that it was up to him to eliminate himself.

Four of the suicides left messages to the effect that their study of philosophy had convinced them that there is more of evil than of good in this life, hence they would avoid the evil by shuffling off this mortal coil. Two of the others evidently were prematurely aged and blase, for they said that they had had every experience that life holds out so they might as well set out to explore the hereafter.

Dr. Arthur Ruggles, consultant in mental hygiene at Yale university, has epitomized the conditions and causes that contribute to the self-destruction of young people.

"Among the problems of our time that have a part in youthful suicide," he says, "are lack of home discipline, the increase in freedom of speech and action, an inordinate desire for speed and thrills, disregard for law and order, the divided home, and the continued breeding of the nervously unfit."

It is regarded as significant by most of the experts that working boys and girls rarely commit suicide.

He Sleeps Like a Child

Sleep is the finest medicine in the world. If you can sleep calmly and soundly for seven or eight hours, you will aways wake up alert and vigorous. Your whole body revitalized by the refreshing influence of peaceful slumber.

If you can't, there is something wrong with your internal system. If you are tied down to the busy life of the city, your liver and kidneys lose their vigor, impurities find their way into your blood stream, the tone of your entire system is lowered and depression, constipation and a hundred and one ills follow, bringing troubled nights in their train.

Kruschen Salts will alter this.

Two Tablets of Kruschen every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea or in a glass of hot water, will provide just the gentle reminder that your eliminating organs need. It is a full day's supply of the six mineral salts which Nature prescribes for your well being. You will enjoy every moment of the day with that exhilarating Kruschen feeling, and when night comes you will seek your bed in the calm and happy state of mind and body that makes for sound, refreshing sleep.

It's the little daily dose that does it!

Seek Safety Devices For Army Airplanes In Mountain Regions

WASHINGTON.—Increased safety for military planes flying over mountainous sections of the country is being sought for by the Army Air Corps. The latest has been to equip the machines with smoke candles giving forth dense gray vapor, easily distinguished from smoke made by ordinary fires. It is hoped by use of these candles to direct relief parties immediately to air men who have made forced landing or who have wrecked their planes.

Efforts are being made by the Air Corps to inform all persons living in mountainous or sparsely settled sections of the significance of this candle smoke so that when they see it they will investigate promptly and render what assistance they can.

WELLSVILLE SOLONS AWAIT SEWER PROBLEM ACTION

DEFINITE PLAN MAY BE VOTED HERE TONIGHT

Seventeenth Street Question Will be Discussed.

COST CUT URGED

Twentieth Street Work Ordinance Will be Passed.

Wellsville council, after a three weeks' rest from official duties, will convene tonight with the Seventeenth street sewer problem probably one of the most important matters looming for discussion and possible action.

The Seventeenth street sewer has been under consideration by the solons for a number of months, being brought up in council several weeks ago. At that time, it was decided to defer action until a later meeting.

Since the first discussion of the proposition one or more meetings have been held by the city officials but no definite plan of action has been agreed upon, it is said.

Although a bond issue of $24,000 was asked at the last election for the construction of a sewer to connect with the Eighteenth street storm sewer, it was hoped by solons that a different method of building might be arranged in order to reduce the cost.

The Twentieth street sewer ordinance probably will be passed on its third reading tonight.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

RITCHIE HIGH IN DEMS' LIST AS CHOICE IN 1928 CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Speaking of Democratic presidential possibilities—

ALBERT RITCHIE

There's no real use in speaking of the Republican ones, because, in our hearts, we all know that C. Coolidge is it—

But speaking of Democrats, nobody's mentioned Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland recently.

Let not Gov. Ritchie be forgotten, because, any minute, he's liable to loom up prominently.

OF course Al Smith, not Al Ritchie, is the leading candidate.

But what good does it do to be the leading candidate if you can't be nominated?

Maybe Al Smith will, but good reasons are beginning to be apparent why he won't.

For one thing, he's too wet. Now he's too dry, too.

I told you so. I predicted Al Smith was coming out as a dry-wet, or a wet-dry.

You noticed what Senator Borah said the other day.

If a politician can keep the public from finding out whether he's wet or dry, that's all right. But I don't believe he can be both wet and dry and get away with it.

The mixture suggests too strongly that his real name is mud.

JUST assume, for the sake of argument, that Smith and Borah, between them, have queered Smith.

William G. McAdoo's out of it. That's admitted. Mac may be able to tell other folks where to get off, but nobody claims he can land anything for himself any more.

Most dopesters probably would note down Senator Jim Reed of Missouri as next in line.

The trouble with Reed is that he's been on the warpath too consistently all his life. He has a few cracking good friends, but he has swarms of enemies simply thirsting for his gore.

He's a big, strong man all right, and not to be slightly dismissed as a possibility for anything he wants, as he unquestionably wants the presidency.

But he isn't safe to bank on with so many snipers on his trail.

NOW, eliminate those three—Smith, McAdoo and Reed—and you'll find Richie's about as good a guess as there is left.

In fact, with that trio out of the way, he's the outstanding Democratic candidate.

This isn't the same thing as saying he has a walkover, as Coolidge has, or that he's even as strong as Frank O. Lowden, for example, if Coolidge should miraculously decide to retire.

But it's the same thing as saying that Ritchie's the next man you think of, after crossing Smith, McAdoo and Reed off the Democratic list.

THERE'S this about Ritchie—

He's an individual of extraordinary personal charm. He's a big man and probably the handsomest governor in the United States today, an aristocrat all through and yet he has punch and he puts on no airs.

He's one presidential candidate who has the nerve to say what he means. Some time ago he took the fancy to make a number of speeches around the country, to introduce himself. All the politicians encouraged him, thinking, with his outspokenness, he'd put his foot in it in short order. So he went, and to the politicians' disgust, made a great hit everywhere he appeared.

Oh, yes, he's a wet and all that, but

Creek Indians Ask For Re-Establishment Of Famous School

OKMULGEE, Okla.—The Creek tribe is seeking the re-establishment of the famous Carlisle Indian school, this time in Oklahoma.

Inducements which, it is hoped, will lead the government to grant such a request have just been outlined at a meeting of several hundred members of the tribe.

A proposal that the Creek nation donate the Euchee and Eufaula Indian schools, owned by the tribe, in return for the establishment of the Carlisle school in this state was advanced by Principal Chief George W. Hill.

The Carlisle school, formerly in Pennsylvania, was discontinued at the time of the World war.

Nearly 11,000 new buildings have gone up in Sydney, N. S. W., in the past year.

Spring Tints
(Copyright 1927)

Gaily colored frocks this Spring! Underthings in soft shades to match. Tint them in ordinary water—but with true dyes. Dipping will do it— in ordinary cold water—but you must have real dye to get a smooth, perfectly even tone.

Diamond dye powder is fifteen cents at any drugstore; so why do half a job with something not half so effective? And when you want the tint to be permanent, just dip in boiling water instead of cold!

The druggist has color cards and simple directions for doing perfect dyeing of all sorts of material; silk or wool; linen, cotton goods; mixed goods, or any goods at all; and exquisite tinting of dainty things. Or, send for a marvelous book of suggestions in full colors. Ask for Color Craft! Address DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N31, Burlington, Vermont.

"HOODOO" SEEMS TO FOLLOW FORD-SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT

BELIEF GROWS AS ACCIDENTS BEFALL CHIEFS

Both Principals Visited by Ill Luck Since Trial Started.

SCRIBES AFFECTED

"Jinx" Overshadowed by Possibility of Clash Over Auto King.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 5—Swinging from the snowy cotton fields of the south to the golden grain belt of the middle west counsel for Henry Ford today traced the purse-filling activities of Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king for the benefit of the jury in the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit.

On the witness stand for his sixth day of cross-examination, Sapiro admitted receiving scores of fees and retainers for his work among farmers. His total gross fees surged above the $500,000 mark for the last ten years.

Sapiro told, too, of being paid $1,000 for attending a three-day conference of the American Farm Bureau at Chicago in July, 1920. This fee included his expenses to and from San Francisco, he said, but it was paid for only three days' work at the conference.

DETROIT, April 5.—Disciples of mysticism today believed a "hoodoo" follows the million dollar "Ford-Sapiro libel suit."

The belief grew as an unusual series of accidents and "bad luck" incidents continued to befall those who are taking part in the trial in federal court here. Both the principals, Henry Ford and Aaron Sapiro, have been visited by ill luck since the trial began.

Ford was injured in a motor crash, the first serious accident to occur to him in his life and the first of any sort in the last seven years. Sapiro's bad luck was visited upon his family, a son being stricken with bronchitis shortly after the trial began and a daughter contracting scarlet fever over the last week-end. Attorneys court attaches and newspapermen also reported themselves victims of the supposed "hoodoo."

Ford meanwhile continued to show steady improvement from the injuries he suffered last Sunday night. The auto king was tightly bound into a canvas jacket to prevent any undue strain upon his wrenched back and chest. He was permitted to read and experiment with blue prints but he made no effort to leave his bed. His physicians expected him to be out of bed before the end of the week.

Prepare to Call Ford.

The "jinx," however, was overshadowed somewhat by the possibility of a clash later this week over the desired appearance of Ford as a witness for Sapiro. Statements issued by opposing counsel indicated that Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond may be called upon to send a physician to visit Ford to determine just how badly he was injured in the motor accident.

This possibility loomed with Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, announcement:

"We will probably finish with Sapiro's cross-examination before the end of the week. But Mr. Ford will not appear on the witness stand this week." He would not amplify the statement.

At the same time, William H. Gallagher, chief of Sapiro's counsel said:

"We will call Mr. Ford as soon as his counsel concludes their examination of Mr. Sapiro. I expect it will be before the end of this week. If there is not a satisfactory explanation of his illness, I shall ask the court to appoint a physician to examine him."

Four Ill, One Hurt.

Judge Raymond meanwhile told International News Service he could not pass upon the question of Ford's illness or appearance until he heard statements from opposing counsel. The court would not anticipate his possible action.

The judge incidentally doesn't believe the trial "hoodooed."

Although his own health has not been the best since he came to Detroit to preside over the trial, he doesn't blame it on the libel suit The court bailiff, Lyman L. Gilbert, however, was stricken with bronchitis since the start of the case while three newspapermen became ill. A daughter of Stewart Hanley, of Ford's counsel, was struck by a trolley car a week ago while all the attorneys concerned blame the trial for heavy losses in their private practice. So far as their business goes, the lawyers believe the suit is "jinxed."

STATE MINING CHIEFS' RIFT WIDER TODAY

Little Hope Remains of Joint Wage Conference.

LONG SHUTDOWN

Union Leader and Operators Exchange Letters.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—The rift between union coal miners and Ohio mine operators was today wider, rather than narrower, following an exchange of letters between Lee Hall, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, and S. H. Robbins, of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Coal Operators' association.

Little hope remained that the miners and mine owners could be brought together in a conference for settling differences. The mines, as a result, will be shut down for at least several months, according to general opinion.

Operators' Letter.

The position of the operators is made clear in a letter which Robbins sent Hall late yesterday afternoon. He said in part:

"Any conference between the coal miners and operators of the state of Ohio that does not take into consideration competitive conditions would, as I have stated to you before, be futile. I am sorry that you and your members are not willing to participate in a conference that will consider competitive conditions in an effort to formulate a wage scale for the mines of Ohio.

"I think you will also agree with me that it is very important that any wage scale that it might be possible to agree upon should be continuous so that the coal consuming public can have the assurance of a regular and continuous supply of fuel."

Cite Non-Union Figures.

The Ohio coal bureau today announced figures in support of its contention that miners in non-union districts have been receiving steadier employment and more aggregate wages than those in union sections. The statistics concern Kanawha mines in West Virginia, which were operated by union men in 1921 and subsequently became non-union.

The figures show that the average yearly income of mine workers was $1,367.25 during the union period and $1,739.93 during the non-union; that the average union coal cutter received $2,141.70 yearly and the average non-union coal cutter received $3,148.32.

Robbins, in commenting on these figures, said:

"It shows conclusively that if Ohio miners will accept a competitive wage scale, the operators will be able to furnish steadier employment, enabling these men to earn annually much more money than they have been able to earn during the spasmodic operating period of the last three years."

He concludes:

"Unless the miners agree to meet the operators on a fair basis so that the mine owners can operate their mines in competition with mines south of the Ohio river, it will be useless to attempt to operate and useless to discuss it."

Pittsburg Sheriff's Warning.

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—Sheriff Robert H. Braun, of Allegheny county, where 18,000 union miners are idle as a result of the bituminous suspension, served notice on miners and operators alike today he would permit no "bloody Williamson county" scene to be enacted within his domain.

The Allegheny county sheriff made this announcement in explanation of his order forbidding the assemblage of three or more persons in the vicinity of mines operated with non-union miners.

"While the rule may be objected to by some," said the sheriff, "I consider it absolutely necessary in the interest of peace. The rule applies to both factions in the wage controversy."

Ford Food Stores Closed to Public; Too Much Business

DETROIT, April 5.—Henry Ford's food stores which last year made a profit of $400,000 and at the same time saved the average family which traded with him from $500 to $600 annually in their living costs, were to be closed to the general public today. The Ford stores will remain open as heretofore for all Ford employes.

Announcement that the public would be barred from the Ford commissionaries was made last night at a meeting held by the Michigan Retail Merchants' association.

G. N. Staples, head of the Ford commissary division gave as the reason the fact that "there has been too much business for us to handle."

Ford last year sold $12,000,000 of supplies in his stores and made a profit of $400,000 a little better than 3 per cent.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 5.—The forward movement in the speculative railroad stocks gained momentum in the arly trading today as the result of an influx of buying for western Maryland, Erie, New Haven, Katy and other well known shares. The New York Central interests were reported the most aggressive buyers of Western Maryland, while Erie's sharp advance was attributed to further acquisition of stock in the open market by Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate promoters.

With most of the Wall Street statistical records showing daily excursions for the industrial and railroad stocks into the highest price territory in the history of the street, the speculative experts caled attention to the strong statistical position of the market. U. S. Steel common shattered all of its past records when the stock pushed forward to 170¾, while Erie common duplicated this performance in the railroad division.

An echo of the unsettled situation in Mexico, and the decline of oil production there was seen in the decline of Pan American Petroleum B and A new low price of 56½. The company which is owned by Standard Oil of Indiana, pays $6 annually on both classes of common stock, but Wall Street is not convinced that the big Standard company will stand behind the disbursement in the event of falling earnings of Pan Pete. The balance of the oil group was fairly steady.

POWDER BLASTS IN OHIO FIRE IMPERIL MANY

Windows Broken as Blaze Rages in Cleveland.

$100,000 DAMAGE

Flames Sweep Powder Plant, Threaten Adjoining Places.

CLEVELAND, April 5.—A series of explosions at the East End plant of the Ohio Bronze Powder company early today imperiled many lives, drove several persons from adjacent apartments into the streets and smashed scores of windows and skylights in the immediate neighborhood. Several persons were cut by broken glass.

The blasts were caused by streams of water from firehose striking powder, according to Assistant Fire Chief Nimmo.

Damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000.

For a time the flames threatened the adjoining plant of the Jordan Motor company and other manufacturing plants. Apartment buildings nearby were also threatened and several families had prepared to remove their furniture when the blaze was brought under control.

Lightning Blamed.

Fireman George Lace was taken to a hospital to be treated for injuries sustained in fighting the fire. One blast after another caused a severe handicap to the fire fighters. At one time more than a score of firemen were hurled to the ground by a terrific triple blast.

Lightning during an early morning electrical storm is believed responsible for starting the fire.

The powder plant fire was Cleveland's second serious conflagration within 12 hours. Late yesterday the second floor of the Hickox building in the heart of the business section was swept by a blaze which caused estimated damage of $30,000. Traffic was tied up for over an hour. Assistant Fire Chief J. H. Granger was cut about the hands when glass, broken by the severe heat, fell from a transom. Three large plate glass windows, also broken by the eat, fell into the street but no one was injured

More important in America, however, is our system of increasing wages, that make is unnecessary to save the bread crumbs for puddings and limit to 12,000 calories daily a family of four.

"As many calories as I want, and some margin for extravagance," is the American demand. And not "How little can I live on?" but "How much can I get?"

A BOOK really needed is one that would keep Americans from breaking all world records for time, work and happiness lost through illness.

The united hospitals' report for New York city alone shows an average of 150,000 ill in bed all the time, and 600,000 more made unfit to work by some sickness.

SEVENTY per cent of that is due to ignorance, at least, and not a little of it to the ignorance of doctors that understand neither diagosis nor cure, also some that would consider prevention of disease "bad business."

upon the volunteer defense forces to supply men to assist in sentry and guard duty.

Admiral Williams, commander of the American warcraft in Chinese waters, and General Smedley Butler, commander of the United States marines, will have more than 7,000 bluejackets and marines under them when the reinforcements now on the way arrive here. These include the 1,500 marines due to sail from San Diego, Calif., today or tomorrow.

Evacuate Chang-Sha.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Chinese situation, as it affects safety of foreigners, assumed an alarming aspect today on the basis of additional reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron.

Evacuation of Chang-Sha in western Honan province, is being hastened because of labor and anti-foreign agitation, Admiral Williams reported, and the American consulate there will close Thursday, ten days earlier than previously planned.

The attack on Japanese sailors at Hankow, resulting in the killing of three of them, shows indications of having been "deliberately planned and pre-arranged," Williams reported.

Chang Opposes Foreign Troops.

(Copyright, 1927, By International News Service.)

PEKING, April 5.—While deeply hostile against the Bolshevists, nevertheless Marshal Chang Tso-Lin regards the sending of large forces of British reinforcements and other troops into North China as an unwelcome act, the Manchurian war lord declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service today.

"I have the situation well in hand," said Marshal Chang, who commands the northern army defending Peking. "The Cantonese cannot proceed northward. Therefore additional foreign garrisons are not needed.

"I am ready to mobilize additional troops in Manchuria if the powers will back me morally against the Bolshevists. A clash between Chinese and foreign troops is a calamity I wish to avoid."

Foreign military observers characterize Marshal Chang's statement as his "public attitude", declaring that the war lord would privately welcome strengthened foreign garrisons in North China, if troops were sent in, not in the guise of intervention but merely to guarantee safe and free exit to foreign residents from Peking to Tien-Tsin.

The United States garrison at Tien-Tsin has not been strengthened, remaining at its old strength of two battalions. So far as known no extraordinary orders have been received by the American forces at Tien-Tsin.

ABBOTT TAKES ROTARY POST

Officers are Installed at Noon Luncheon Meeting.

Martin Abbott, vice-president of The Stevenson Foundry & Machine company, Wellsville, was installed as president of the East Liverpool Rotary Club at the noon luncheon meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

Malcolm Thompson, retiring president, thanked fellow officers, directors and members for their co-operation during the year.

"Under the leadership of Martin Abbott, who has all the attributes of a real Rotarian, this club is going to continue to prosper and be a real asset to East Liverpool," said Thompson in presenting Abbott.

Abbott, accepting the office, pledged himself to work for the club's interests. He named Attorney Blaine Cochran, Superintendent of Schools Charles McVay and M. W. Thompson members of the committee to purchase the medals for the honor students in the high school graduating class. Charles Bowman will be chairman of next week's meeting.

Frank Wells outlined plans for the county meeting which will be held at Columbiana on April 14, in which members of the East Liverpool, Salem and Columbiana clubs will take part. Attorney G. B. Gilmer, Warren, will be the speaker. The meeting, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, will be held in the Odd Fellows' hall. Wells also told of the district conference, which will be held at Toledo, April 20 and 21.

Harry Walker, superintendent of the Homer Laughlin China company, chairman of the meeting, introduced Dr. A. V. Bleininger, head of the research department of the same company, who spoke on "Present Day Industrial Problems."

ver and Thompson partisans caused police to take probably the most elaborate precautions in history to prevent intimidation of voters, rioting and possible murder.

This activity on the part of police has already resulted in the death of one gangster and the arrest of several others. Vincent "Schemer" Drucci, successor to the late gangland chief, Dean O'Bannion, was shot and killed late yesterday by Police Officer Dan Healy while Drucci and two of his henchmen were being taken to headquarters in a bureau car.

Drucci is said to have cursed Healy and then struck him with his fist. His arrest followed a police order to roundup all known gangmen.

During this general roundup, a man who gave his name as Robert Lewis and who is said to have admitted that he was a Detroit gunman, was arrested carrying a suit case which police said was filled with hand-machine guns and sawed-off shotguns.

Lewis told police he had "connection" with prominent Chicago booze runners who did business between Chicago and Detroit. Police, however, were of the opinion that Lewis was one of several Detroit gunmen "imported" especially for today's election.

South Side wards in the heart of the "black belt" are admittedly the potential danger spots, although virtually every section of the city is on edge in fear of gang lawlessness.

Farm Organizations Seek Appropriation For Extension Work

County commissioners were asked Monday afternoon to set aside an appropriation of $3,500 for extension work and including the salary and expense of a home demonstration agent for this county when a delegation met with the commissioners in common pleas court No. 1.

There were 37 women and 23 men in the crowd, these representing the major farm organizations of the county.

A. E. Bailey of Knox township was the spokesman. He first introduced Mrs. Mabel Scatterthwait of Butler township, who told the commissioners the need of a home demonstration agent being added to the Columbiana county extension force. She was followed by Mrs. Jesse Potorff of Salem township, who referred to the need of such an addition to the farm Bureau work of the county as it had to do with Boys and Girls club work.

Willis Boone, deputy state master of the grange of this county also spoke in favor of the proposition, as did Roy Whinnery of Butler township and Barnett Graham.

The county now contributes $1,500 annually to the support of the county agent under existing laws.

No definate answer was given by the commissioners, they advising that the proposition would be taken under consideration. Whether or not the suggestion will be put into effect this year will depend whether or not the county is financially able to carry the additional expense.

Application Made For Improvement of Road Near Negley

"We would be glad to spend $400,000 on our new plant within the next 90 days if it was possible," J. E. White of Pittsburgh, Pa., told the county commissioners Monday afternoon, when an application was made to the county for assistance in keeping a road from Negley to the new clay plant east of Negley and just over the state line in Pennsylvania.

There are between 40 and 50 men now doing grading work and building foundation for the main plant which will be 1,400 feet in length, and the majority of these reside in either East Palestine or the Negley district. "We're going to employ practically all our help from Columbiana county," Mr. White said. "and our factory heads will reside at East Palestine."

The commissioners recently passed a resolution agreeing to improve any road in Columbiana county to meet with any improved road Pennsylvania builds to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. On one of these roads, extending from Negley there are plants, which includes the new White plant that distributes an aggregate payroll of $53,000 weekly.

FINAL PAYMENT ON BOND ISSUE

The last of a bond issue of $20,000 authorized 20 years ago by the trustees of St. Clair township for the building of the first paved road in that township was paid today by Clerk James Venes. The road extended from Calcutta southward to the St. Clair-Liverpool township line, and two years ago was replaced by the present paved road.

The last $1,500 bond issued for the improvement of the Calcutta-Fredericktown road was paid by the county last August. This was a seven year issue. The county paid 90 percent of the cost and there was an assessment of 10 percent on this project.

To Deliver Address.

C. L. Blackman of Ohio State university will address a meeting of the Columbiana County Cow Testing association scheduled to be held at Lisbon next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lisbon city building. He will speak on "Breeding and Dairy Cattle." In addition to cattle owners, distributing dairymen are also asked to attend this session.

Hornsby Places Responsibility For His Trade On League

Breadon Claims Star Wanted To Move; Took Reduction In Salary

Second Sacker Now Get-ting $20,000 Less Than he Was Offered by Cards, Says Official, and he Knew he Had to Dispose of Stock.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Rogers Hornsby is being affronted by the New York Giants with a salary of $30,000 a year, not the $40,000 that the Fourth Estate conceded conceded him with magnificent abandon, it was learned today from a national league man who intimated that this fact would be used against Hornsby if he staggered into court under the weight of his financial cares. It has been Hornsby's contention these many weeks that he didn't ask to be traded to the Giants and that, therefore, the National league is responsible for the fact that he happens to be a New York player and a St. Louis stockholder at one and the same time.

The league, my informant intimates, will counter with the claim that Hornsby must have wanted to come to the Giants or else he would not have accepted a $30,000 contract here while refusing $50,000 in St. Louis. The reason this man assigns as making the transfer desirable from Hornsby's standpoint is the oft-repeated story, to wit, that Hornsby and the Cardinals had reached a parting of the ways by mutual consent.

"Hornsby was perfectly satisfied to go to the Giants and he proved it by signing for $20,000 less than Breadon offered him," my informant declared. "He knew when he signed the Giant contract that he had to get rid of his St. Louis stock before he could play in New York. Any man knows that; therefore, why did he set his price at $105 a share, a figure at which no one cares to do business with him. At least no one seems to be interested at that price.

Heydler May Call Meet.

"It seems very simple to me. The stock has to go. The bidders won't meet the price set; then the price must meet the bidders."

But, in my humble opinion, it isn't as simple as that. The writer might over-value his neck, say at $3.89, and naturally the bidders would be dubious. But if they didn't care to meet my price, they couldn't have my neck, and no law in baseball or civil court could force me to sell my property under pain of depriving me of a livelihood. My valuation might be self-inflated, as possibly Hornsby's is, but that would be strictly my own, my native business.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, expects to issue an official call today for a special league meeting to consider an "out" from the embarrassing situation. Probably some kind of a compromise will be offered Hornsby, although it won't follow the suggestion, receiving some circulation recently, to the effect that the league itself will buy Hornsby's stock at the price quoted. In fact, no one can call the turn in advance, except on this point:

A new rule will be incorporated in the by-laws, either at this meeting or the annual conclave in December, forbidding ball players to own stock in any club, rival or otherwise. They have had one Hornsby case and don't particularly care for another.

"Clark Griffith's team may not get anywhere but with a goose and a gray eagle he has a bird of an outfield."

OR WHAT HAVE YOU?

The dim pennant chances of the Brooklyn Dodgers depend mainly upon Manager Robinson's pitching staff—always his strong point. This year Butch Henline, star catcher obtained from the Phils, may play a big part in getting 100 percent out of that staff. Here he is warming up the day's choice.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller:

In the columns of this paper a few days ago I studied a picture of you making a golf swing. This picture, and also your score for the holes you played that day, were most interesting to me. You are living proof that golf is the great exercise for the retired business man. Regarding your swing I would like to make the following suggestion: A half upright swing, in the back swing, accomplished entirely with your hands and arms, with no thought of pivoting and no conscious effort whatever to pivot your body, will give you better timing, a very much less effort with your club, and consequently a considerably longer ball. In the picture I studied it was apparent that you were struggling with the club just a little in the back swing. A half upright back swing will remove all tendency toward struggle.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—The Yankees and the Cardinals today are tied in the "spring world series" with three victories each. The Yanks swamped the Cards yesterday, 15 to 8. Ruth got two doubles and Combs of the Yanks and Hafey of the Cards each clouted a homer with the bases full.

Lid Will be Pried Off on Thursday, April 21; Both Clubs Have Chance at Flag.

GET out your date book and the old blue pencil and put a big ring around Thursday, April 21, for on that day all sport loving fans of the district will be carded for a very pressing engagement at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, when Donie Bush's California trained Pirates and Jack Hendrick's Florida trained Cincinnati Reds will open the National league baseball season in Pittsburgh.

No Pittsburgh team ever took the field with more promise than the Pirates of 1927, for it is the consensus of opinion that with the addition of Carmen Hill, Mike Cvengros and Roy Mahaffey to the pitching staff and other additions to last year's pennant contending team, the Buccaneers are stronger than ever and have become at once a most likely contender for the 1927 bunting. While the New York Giants have been strengthened by the addition of Rogers Hornsby at second and Burleigh Grimes to the hurling staff, they have weakened their team in other positions and many of the New York scribes are skeptical of the Giants' ability to make a much better showing than last year. Cincinnati also has been strengthened and the pennant hace begins to look like a free-for-all with the Pirates, Giants and Reds fighting it out at the finish.

See Another Flag.

Quite a few Pittsburghers, vacationing in California, glimpsed the Buccos in training and in exhibition games on the coast, and have sent back home some very optimistic predictions for the team. "Paint the old flag-pole white and let the world see it, for there surely is going to be another championship flag on it next fall," writes one of the more rabid bugs.

One of the many encouraging phases of the spring training work this year has been the showing of Glenn Wright, who, aside from a stoved finger keeping him out of practice work, has shown himself to be in the best shape of his career. The return of "Pooch" Barnhart to his real punch-producing self, and his selection by Manager Bush for the regular left field job, also has added a great deal of strength to the outfield, and with Barney, Cuyler and Waner, hitting on all cylinders, Pirate fans are going to see some stellar outfielding this season. The weak spot in left field last season will be absent this year.

The Pirates have an opponent par excellence in the Cincinnati Reds for the opening series. The Reds always have been a very colorful team and should be more so this season with the addition of long George Kelly procured from the Giants. The Cincinnati entry still sports one of the top-notch pitching staffs of the major leagues in Pete Donohue, Dolf Luque, Eppa Rixey, Carl Mays and Artie Nehf. The latter is said to have made a sensational comeback this spring, and the Bucco binglers are going to have plenty of man-sized batting practice when they stack up against such an exceptional array of talent. But the Buccos chased the great Luque out of the box several times last season, and none of the other Cincy hurlers had a Roman holiday on the mound against the Pirates, so there is no telling what will happen this year. But one thing is sure—Manager Bush's middle name is "Hustle" and the Corsairs are bound to be on their toes every minute.

The advance mail sale of tickets for the opening series has been heavier than last year's opening when a capacity crowd packed Forbes Field, and the indications are that the biggest Forbes Field opening in history is in the offing. Mail orders will continue to be filled until within a few days of the opening date, April 21.

Sox Head Northward.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 5.—The White Sox were headed northward today via Texarkana where they play a single game and then hop to Memphis for two more exhibitions. Manager Schalk was delighted with the way his boys performed yesterday in beating Shreveport, 7 to 2. That gave the Sox four of the seven games.

CHICAGO CLUBS O. K. WEAVER

Semi-pro Teams Approve 'Buck' as League Member.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Buck Weaver, former White Sox third baseman, banished from organized baseball following the world series scandal of 1919, will again play baseball in Chicago, it was learned today.

Weaver, following his signing with a local semi-pro team, was passed upon and endorsed here last night at a meeting of officials of the Midwest League of semi-professional teams.

After listening to Weaver's story, the player having appeared in person before the body, the officials accepted him by unanimous vote.

Elks Wind Up Cage Campaign Tonight Against Lafayettes

Rivals Will Battle On Duquesne Court In Second of Series

Pennsylvanians Hold Edge as Result of Victory in Opener Here Last Friday; Antlers Have Hopes of Evening up Standing.

The East Liverpool Elks club basketball team, playing their thirty-first game of the season, will finish their campaign tonight on a foreign floor when they tackle the Fink Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny county league, in the second game of a home and home series.

The game will be staged in the Duquesne high school court, in the city of Duquesne.

By virtue of their one-point victory over the Antlers here last Friday night, the Pennsylvanians hold the edge in the series and, naturally, another win tonight will make it unanimous.

However, Powell's passers have a fighting chance, despite the fact that the crucial engagement will be played on the Lafayettes' home stamping grounds. The Elks led Minnick's machine practically all the way in the battle here, only to lose out in the last minute on a long shot by Forward Minnick.

This Minnick was the chief offender in the matter of scoring and he did most of the damage in the second half. All he got in the first two periods were four fouls out of six attempts. In the second half he rang up five field goals, which were altogether too many. If the locals can bottle him up tonight, their chances for a victory will look better.

And, too, if the Elks had shot fouls in proportion to the ability of the Lafayettes, they would have gone into Duquesne tonight as winners. The Lafayettes were given 13 chances on the free line and they made 10 of them count.

In 17 chances at gift throws, the locals made nine, just a trifle better than half.

The Lafayettes will be out tonight to stop Nate Lippe, Elks' forward. Lippe got loose for seven field goals against the Duquesne lads Friday, five in the first half and two in the second. Two substitutions were made by the visitors in an effort to stop him, but neither had much effect.

If the Elks can operate on a system as effective as the one they employed against the Indians Saturday night, their passing will be much better than it was against the Lafayettes in the first game, and their scoring chances consequently, greatly improved.

The squad is scheduled to leave here shortly before 5 o'clock on the C. & P. A large number of local fans are expected to take in the engagement.

Nominating
FRANCIS T. HUNTER.

BECAUSE he has been one of our leading tennisers for several years whose work has been clouded by the despotic reign of Tilden, Johnston, Richards et al.

Because he has broken into the ranking ten two or three times despite the monopoly held on the leading places by the men mentioned, R. Norris Williams and others.

Because he recently proved his class by defeating Jacques Brugnon, French star, in the eastern indoor tourney.

And because his first stop will be Germany, where a grip on a stein is worth two on a racquet.

Training Camps

Last Exhibition Tilt.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5. — Cleveland plays its final exhibition game here today with the New Orleans Southern association outfit. Walter Lutzke, third baseman for the Indians, is out of the game with an injured back. Hodapp will probably play third for the Tribe today. Lutzke's injury is not serious and he is expected to be in shape for the game scheduled with the Cincinnati Reds Saturday at Cincinnati.

The Indians leave here Thursday night for Tuscaloosa, Ala., the next stop on the trek northward.

Cubs in Tulsa.

TULSA, Okla., April 5—The Cubs were in Tulsa today prepared to do battle against another western league team. They swamped Oklahoma City yesterday, 13 to 2.

Cripples Recovering.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5.—The Nationals are slowly getting the cripples back into shape, and it seemed certain today they will start the season with only three regulars on the bench—Manager Harris, Walter Johnson and Buddy Myer, third baseman.

Robins in Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5.—The Brooklyn Dodgers play Birmingham here today. They nosed out Mobile yesterday, 6 to 5, in a game featured by the extra base hit of Jay Partridge, rookie second baseman who has been leading the team in batting.

Hornsby Gets Four Hits.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—The Giants cross bats with Washington again here today. They thrashed the Senators at Birmingham yesterday, 10 to 3, Hornsby getting four hits and Grimes pitching effectively.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

AS this is written the Hornsby case nears the courts.

Determined to get what he considers the market price for his one-eighth share of the total stock of the St. Louis Cardinals, Rogers Hornsby, former manager and second baseman and now with the Giants, says he will continue to keep his stock—and play with the Giants—until forced to dispose of the first and quit the latter by court order.

And John McGraw, Giant manager, backs him up by announcing that Hornsby's financial connections with the Cardinals have nothing to do with the case as far as he is concerned.

Which puts the matter up to Judge Landis.

Landis is paid $65,000 to handle just such matters—any situations that threaten to disrupt baseball as a business or destroy its popularity as a sport.

The cause of the threatened legal battle was born during Landis' reign—and he can be censored for his failure to see the perplexities that might arise from such an arrangement at the time Hornsby was given the stock by the Cardinal owners. So it is plainly up to him to settle the matter now.

Hornsby asks $105 a share for his holdings. The club offers him much less. He has refused a compromise offer of $85 a share.

Owner Sam Breadon, because of the friendly manner in which the stock was tendered Hornsby and his aid in arranging the financial end, feels that Hornsby is showing little gratitude. Hornsby treats the entire matter as a straight business proposition and wants "his."

That is neither here nor there. The public doesn't care about the merits of the case. They want it cleaned up in a hurry. They've had enough of this "front office baseball," ever since the time Ban Johnson and Landis had their first front office jam.

Judge Landis is supposed to have the authority to make any move he believes proper "for the good of the game." He has the financial resources with which to carry out any moves involving cold coin.

If necessary he can take the stock at Mr. Hornsby's price, find a purchaser for it at the highest price offered—and ask the league to pay the difference.

The fans don't care how he handles the matter.

But—

They would like to wander through one baseball season that was unclouded or besmirched with pay-day heckling, high finance tactics, and blah-blah.

Come on, Judge.

Do your stuff!

IT has been broadcast to a more general extent than usual this year that Babe Ruth has a batting weakness and that that weakness is a low ball on the outside of the plate.

No doubt much attention will be paid by the various American league pitchers to this information—as it has been in the past. But you can count on Mr. George Herman the R. getting his homers with considerable regularity as usual—as far as the kind of pitching offered him is concerned.

For two reasons.

First of all no pitcher cares to flirt with the outside, low corner of the plate to the extent of walking Mr. Ruth constantly under ordinary conditions. Quite obviously a pass eliminates all opportunity of a putout at first as far as the individual play in concerned.

Secondly, while Mr. Ruth may not be at his best on such balls he has the happy faculty of "golfing" them just often enough to blast temporarily at least a pitcher's hope that he has solved Mr. Ruth's weakness.

We recall, pondering the matter, the cagy ability Nap Lajoie, great old second baseman of the Cleveland Naps, had to ruin pitchouts. Pitchers facing the great Frenchman with a man on base, would seek to slip over a wide ball in the hope of catching the runner stealing. To make assurance doubly sure they would proceed to have the ball some distance outside the pitcher's box.

Whereupon M. Lajoie would step softly across the plate and toss his bat at the pitchout with a playful gesture which would tap the ball into short right field.

SMITH SETTING FAST PIN PACE

May Land "All Events" Honors at A. B. C. Meet.

PEORIA, Ill., April 5. — Jimmy Smith, twice "all events" champion in the American bowling congress tourney, today bids fair to repeat his achievement following a banner session 'th the pins here last night.

Rolling with the Schaefer Delmar Recreation team of St. Louis, Smith set too stiff a pace for his teammates when he toppled 634 pins in his series. Smith's count was 223—213—198.

The team shot a 2764 series.

With two events to his credit, Smith expects to pull up with a third before completing his doubles and singles here this afternoon. Smith won the crown in St. Louis in 1911 and again here in 1920.

The Star A. C., Erie, Pa., team was high on the second squad with 2865. Erie Arbreiters, Erie, Pa., 2850; Pontiac Recreations, Pontiac, Mich., 2828; Diehl Bowlers, Elizabethtown, N. J., 2827.

Will Farrell Save Giants?

TRAVERS JACKSON
"UNT - SHORTSTOP.

EDDIE FARRELL

The forced absence of Travis Jackson, brilliant young shortstop, from the New York Giants' lineup, due to the recent operation for appendicitis in a Memphis, Tenn., hospital, hits temporarily at least, the Giants' pennant chances. Manager McGraw will be forced to fill his shoes at least until May 1. It is probable that Eddie Farrell, young college rookie, will be tossed into the breach.

While Farrell has not the experience and finess of young Jackson, which the latter has acquired through five compaigns and two world's series, the former has proved his ability to fill an infield utility role capably ever since the day McGraw tossed him into the lineup twenty-four hours after his arrival from the university of Pennsylvania in June, 1925.

He broke into 53 games at short last season, hit .286 and fielded well. Illness forced Jackson out of about the same number of games.

TILDEN BOWS TO SPANISH CHAMP

WASHINGTON, April 5. — Wm. T. Tilden has stumbled again in his long fight to regain lost tennis laurels.

Manuel Alonzo, the captain of Spain's Davis cup team, took the rangy Philadelphian through a burning match here last night, winning finally, 4-6, 6-4, 7-9 and 6-3. A distinguished gathering, which included the Spanish ambassador, saw the match.

FINNEGAN'S TITLE CLAIMS BOOSTED

NEW YORK, April 5.—The claim of Honeyboy Finnegan of Boston to the featherweight championship was strengthened today by his easy victory over Frankie Fink of Texas in a ten-round bout here last night. Finnegan scored a knockdown and had the Texan groggy at the final bell.

ALL-STAR CAST AT CERAMIC

Clara Bow, Esther Ralston in "Children of Divorce."

The director of "The Sea Hawk," the star of "It," leading woman of "The American Venus," the sensation of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a new Scandinavian hero and the major of "Beau Geste"—all combined to make Paramount's new dramatic production, "Children of Divorce," now at the Ceramic theatre.

In addition to "The Sea Hawk," Frank Lloyd also made "Ashes of Vengeance," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Les Miserables," "Madame X," "Oliver Twist," "The Eternal Flame," "Winds of Chance" and "Eagle of the Sea." Among the players Lloyd has been associated with are: Lenore Ulric, Alma Rubens, William Farnum, Norma Talmadge, Milton Sills, Betty Compson, Florence Vidor and Ricardo Cortez.

Clara Bow appeared in "Down to the Sea in Ships," "Dancing Mothers," "The Plastic Age," "Mantrap," "Black Oxen," "Eve's Lover," "Kid Boots," "The Runaway" and "Kiss Me again" before being starred in 'It."

As Mrs. Darling in "Peter Pan," Esther Ralston made her first determined mid for fame. Some years before, she had been "Huckleberry Finn's" sweetheart. Miss Ralston won additional popularity as Richard Dix's heroine in a series of comedies which included "Womanhandled," "The Lucky Devil" and "The Quarterback."

Prior to the Vilma Banky-Ronald Colman picture, Gary Cooper was just another unknown. Now he's the hero in "Children of Divorce" and is all set for a series of Western dramas.

Einar Hanson reached these sunny shores in 1926 with Director Mauritz Stiller. Since then he has been Corinne Griffith's leading man in two pictures and Pola Negri's lead in 'Barbed Wire." He also appears as Esther Ralston's hero in "Fashions for Women."

The theatrical producer of "The Song and Dance Man," the husband of "Dancing Mothers" and the father of "The Ace of Cads." These are just a few of the roles in which Norman Trevor has scored.

"Childen of Divorce," the picture in which this brilliant galaxy of players appear, was adapted by Hope Loring and Louis D. Lighton from Owen Johnson's best-selling novel. It depicts what is said to be a rapidly growing section of American society—those people who choose divorce as the easiest way out of marital difficulties.

In spite of war troubles in China the people are rapidly being converted to the use of automobiles.

Symphony Orchestra Will Accompany Road Production.

There have been many motion pictures staged in the desert of the Sahara, pictures in which handsome sheiks carried off beautiful maidens and breezes blew through the palm trees until it seemed as pleasant a place as an ocean beach. But it remained for Herbert Brenon to put the burning desert and the bestiality it inspires in men on the screen in such a way that there is no romance in it, only torture.

Such a picture is "Beau Geste" which opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Thursday. It is a picture which plays so deeply on the emotions and yet a picture in which sex does not enter, a strange picture indeed in these days.

The sands of that arid desert seem to burn the very life out of the brave men of the Foreign Legion and make of them beasts and yet the love of three brothers for each other shines out through all the torture.

When Major P. C. Wren, himself a member of the Foreign Legion wrote "Beau Geste" he produced a boom which swept not only this country but France and England as well by storm and the Herbert Brenon production of this throbbing story takes on added realism.

The vast desert with its hills and endless vale of nothing but sand forms a strange background for the agonizing suffering of the little band of brave soldiers who are sent to defend an isolated fort. As the hordes of Arabs advance on the fort the whole desert seems to be filled with swift moving figures, one of the most impressive pictures the screen has ever furnished.

"Beau Geste" is the story of three young English boys, devoted to one another in their pleasant English home and just as devoted when the three of them join the Foreign legion, each thinking the other guilty of stealing a priceless jewell from their aunt.

Ronald Coleman as the handsome, ever smiling Beau Geste, Neil Hamilton as Digby Geste and Ralph Forbes as John Geste, each give a portrayal that stands out as a masterpiece.

It is not the characterization so much as the great emotion underneath and the tragedy of it all that makes "Beau Geste" so fine a picture.

Heat that makes men so mad that they laugh like demons is so apparent throughout the picture. It causes the perspiration to pour down the men's faces, to make their hair wet masses and to send them into the desert raving maniacs. It makes Noah Beery as Lejune, the bestial French commandant, a man so terrible that he hoists the dead bodies of soldiers into an erect position and put guns in their hands.

The presentation of "Beau Geste" is done along unusually artistic lines. A symphony orchestra of 18 pieces one of the largest ever used for the showing of a picture, will accompany the road production. The stage floor is covered with black cloth and the orchestra pit is hung with cloth in order that nothing may detract from the perfection of the showing.

There are many stars in the picture including Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Norman Trevor and others, but it is the power of the story and teh impressiveness of the endless desert that makes it so great a production, rather than the stars who are in it.

"Beau Geste" has a tender love story, but is probably is the only picture that does not rely on the love scenes and sex appeal to make it.

Hundreds of camels are used, thousands of horses and hordes of men but it is not a spectacle. It is just the story of the tremendous love of three brothers, a love which carries them into almost unendurable tortures.

All in all "Beau Geste" is as fine a picture as has been shown in many years, because the story is fine and because it has been done on a scale that is in accordance with the fineness of the story.

An American firm's speeding of Athens' new water supply system averted a serious shortage that was threatened there recently.

Finland has a plan to centralize its many government railway work shops into one large repair station at Helsingfors.

MARSHALL COUNTY MINES WORKING

Non-union mines in the Moundsville district are working about 70 per cent of full capacity, it was learned yesterday.

The operators declare that there were many of the old employes back at their places yesterday morning after being idle since Thursday, and expressed confidence that the mines will be working in full by the close of the week.

There has been no disorder whatever in Marshall county. State troopers make a patrol of the county each day and yesterday afternoon reported that the situation is entirely peaceful, and the miners who have not returned to work are apparently enjoying a spring vacation.

No activity by miners' union officials at Bellaire has been noted in the down-river coal fields.

BURT TENDERED ROAD POSITION

Governor Gore Names Wheeling Man to Succeed Hiner.

D. A. Burt, of Wheeling, was tendered the post of state road commissioner yesterday by Governor Howard M. Gore to fill the vacancy on the commission caused by the resignation of C. E. Hiner. Burt will hold a conference with the governor tomorrow relative to accepting the position.

Governor Gore in accepting the resignation of Hiner suggested that he remain in office until the close of the legislative session on April 29. His resignation was prompted by the fact that he was charged with irregularities at the Nitro alcohol plant in a federal government report.

Mr. Burt has long been regarded as a progressive citizen of the Wheeling district and an able executive, as well as a valuable and important figurea in financial circles. He is at present a member of the brokerage firm ot Hazlett & Burt, and is actively engaged in the conduct of this institution. Prior to devoting his efforts to the brokerage business, Mr. Burt for many years held a high executive position with the Wheeling Steel Corportation, having been identified prominently with the steel industry before the merger of the companies which combined in the major independent corporation. He is still a member of the Wheeling Steel Corporation board of directors.

Mr. Burt has never evinced desire for public office, and his maiden venture in public affairs came a little more than a year ago, when he responded to the summons of Governor Gore to assume the chairmanship of a special state tax commission, to analyze the tax problem of West Virginia and to suggest remedial changes.
